HENRY BORSCH JR.

Gas Sniffing Blamed Here As Boy Dies

A Monroe teenager Friday was found dead in an old car on a vacant lot near his residence by his mother. He apparently died from sniffing fumes from a can of gasoline.

Henry Bosch Jr., of 1008 S. 4th St., was in the back seat of the car next to a gasoline can, with imprints of the can on his nose and mouth, police said, and saliva on the can. He was 13 years old.

The boy's father, Henry Bosch, told police he caught the boy sniffing gasoline some time ago, before the family moved from the Lakeshore area, and had told him never to repeat the act.

Police said a 10-year-old neighbor, and friend of the boy's, told of sniffing gasoline with him Thursday at his (Henry's) suggestion, but that he "didn't like it" and "wouldn't do it anymore."

Investigators were looking late Friday for the place the boy may have purchased the gas, but reported no luck.

Police said no official cause of death would be stated, pending Ouachita Parish Coroner J. W. Cummins statement, which was expected to follow an autopsy today.

The Bosch boy was a Monroe native, an eighth grade student at Jefferson Junior High School, and member of Boy Scout Troop 127.

Funeral services will be at 4 p.m. today at the Mulhearn Funeral Home Chapel, with the Elder Travis T. Tynes officiating. Burial will be in Riverview cemetery, with Troop 127 Scouts serving as pallbearers.

Other survivors include his mother, Mrs. Henry W. Bosch, and an aunt, Miss Jane Bosch, both of Monroe.

Five Persons Die In Crash Of Bus, Truck

PORT ROYAL, Va. (AP) — A pickup camper and a Greyhound bus carrying servicemen off on a weekend pass collided near here Friday. Five persons were killed and 11 others injured.

The bus was sent hurtling 45 yards off a lonely stretch of U.S. 17 and into a churchyard about 10 miles south of this northeastern Virginia community.

The dead included the drivers of both vehicles and one of the 13 military passengers aboard the bus headed to Baltimore from Norfolk, Va. Two of the five passengers in the camper also died.

Alma Rakes Coast, Goes Out To Sea

CHARLESTON, S. C. (UPI) — Tropical storm Alma churned out to sea Friday and pulled gradually away from land, raking the eastern seaboard as far north as Virginia with its gales.

The Miami Weather Bureau said the storm would be "well away from land" by today, when its winds will have built back to near-hurricane force of 70 miles an hour.

The storm was moving east-northeast at about 16 mph. Residents along the Carolinas coast, whipped by 45-mph winds, viewed the storm with equanimity. Only a few boarded up their homes and stores.

Gales, heavy rains and tornado warnings were posted along much of the East Coast. Myrtle Beach, S.C., and other beach towns were jammed with more than 50,000 tourists who are in the area for the Sun Fun Festival, an annual weeklong event which began last Sunday. The annual Sun Fun parade in downtown Myrtle Beach was rained out Friday.

FEW LEAVE

Charleston Weather Bureau meteorologists said it was doubtful Alma would regain hurricane strength since it was only partially over the ocean. Few persons left their homes along the beach.

As a hurricane, Alma killed 11 persons in Cuba and three in Florida. It lashed sections of Georgia with heavy rains before moving out to sea around Savannah, but damage was reported light.

Chatham County, Ga., Police Chief Gary Snyder, 22, was believed the storm's only fatality in Georgia. He was listed as missing after his boat overturned on the Savannah River Thursday night while he was attempting to pick up a man stranded on a pier.

Small craft warnings were up from northeast Florida to Virginia and up to five inches of rain was expected along the Carolinas.

Florida officials reported Friday that Alma caused $1.5 million "insurable" damage in that state, at least half of it in Hillsborough and Pinellas Counties in the Tampa-St. Petersburg area.

In the South, Army engineers were releasing water from Lake Okeechobee into the Atlantic at the rate of 3,000 cubic feet per second to lower the water level. Authorities said the three water conservation storage areas were filled and the maximum water possible was flowing into Everglades National Park.

The Coast Guard plucked six men from the Flying Pan Light Station off the North Carolina coast in advance of Alma's winds. "We're not taking any chances," a spokesman said.

Visiting in Monroe for several weeks is Mrs. Ruth M. Davis, who is getting acquainted with her newest grandchild, Susan Ann, born Thursday to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davis, 3206 Lee Avenue, Monroe.

The youngster was born in Glenwood Hospital. Mrs. Davis is home from Albuquerque, N.M., for about a month.

Flames Almost Level Salley Construction Complex Here

A three-alarm blaze, billowing black smoke hundreds of feet in the air Friday, almost leveled a construction company building and warehouse complex which covered almost a city block here.

The Monroe Fire Department called out eight fire trucks, including its new snorkel No. 1, to contain the fire in less than two hours. Late Friday night, two trucks said that investigation into the were on the scene.

The only casualty, apparently, was that of a fireman, J. R. Moore, of Station No. 1, who passed out from heat prostration and exhaustion. He was rushed by a Mulhearn ambulance to St. Francis Hospital, where he was treated and released shortly, and returned to duty.

The building housed W. C. Salley Contractor Company, and burned as the owner, Salley, attended a granddaughter's wedding in Hammond. The employees were off for the day.

SMOKY SMELL

Salley's secretary, Mrs. James Traylor and her husband had entered the building minutes before the blaze. "To put some papers in the safe," they had thought nothing, they said, of a "smoky smell" present at the time, taking it to be part of an often-present "muskiness."

Several hundred onlookers were kept back from the scene by police, a nearby cemetery wall, and the extreme heat.

Police shifted traffic from nearby DeSiard for hours, as

Readings In 90's Expected Again

Although Monroe was the hottest spot in the Mid-South Friday, the temperature only climbed to the 92 mark as the result of a rather dry cold front which passed through the area earlier in the week.

Predictions are for the temperature to reach the 87 to 92 level today, with northeast winds 5 to 15 mph.

No rain of consequence is indicated through Sunday.

Womack's District Bill

Veto, Better Split On Tax Suggested

By VERNON GUIDRY
World Staff Writer

Rep. Lantz Womack Friday offered the possibility of giving any one school board the power to veto over his legislative proposal to allow boards in the 14-parish Fifth District to call for a one-cent sales tax election to boost school salaries.

The Franklin Parish legislator, speaking in Monroe to school superintendents, board members and government officials from the district, said he might amend his bill to require unanimous approval of all school boards, thus giving any one a veto.

DISCUSSION STAGE

Womack left both the veto and money split in the discussion stage, leaving the initiative to the Ouachita and Monroe boards after telling them to "find something you can live with" in the way of a compromise on the tax. The legislator said he had found no "serious opposition" in other parishes.

Wood said he would poll the local boards for reaction after they have a chance to study the proposals aired at the meeting and adopt the position they indicated.

The "alternative" on the revenue division would implement the second half of teachers' salary raises throughout the district plus raising lunchroom and other workers from the total money collected district wide. The remainder would be divided among the parishes according to the per centage they paid.

Hall, at Tuesday's meeting of the parish board, voiced the opinion that such a plan might receive support locally.

Both Lancaster and Womack doubted the notion that a state sales tax would be passed for teachers' salaries and added that the district bill would mean more money for education.

"I don't see any possibility of a state sales tax," Lancaster said.

Commenting on a current bill for a state tax to implement salaries, Womack said Gov. John J. McKeithen, "has committed himself. I don't think he would sign it if it passed the legislature."

The Monroe board's resolution rejecting the district tax had been called for the state tax to boost school pay. Womack said that the state bill would only raise salaries, whereas the district measure would do that and supply money for other uses.

Also discussed was the "alternative" of a more favorable money split for Ouachita Parish, which would give others more of the share that Ouachita tax pie.

Womack said that which would receive have been the figure gave way to a percent source of much local opposition age increase.

The stage for talk of a veto rep. next week to meet with any was set when Ouachita's Rep. one to discuss his proposal.

George Wood said that both local boards had informed him that they were against the bill. Board offices on Bry St.

He added flatly, "We're out."

Rep. Ed Lancaster of Madison, whom Womack introduced as "my main legal counsel," said that "talking practical politics," Wood and Rep. Lawrence Gibbs — not at the meeting — could have Ouachita pulled out when the measure came up in the House.

"We're doomed if all don't go along," Lancaster said.

To Wood's statement, Womack replied, "Yeah, but that's the way it (the bill) is now," and opened the door to compromise.

Monroe School Board President W. S. Gannaway left the meeting with the comment that alternatives were "worth exploring." The phrase was a moderation of the resolution passed by the board Tuesday going on record as directly opposing the district tax. Gannaway said he would poll his board by phone for a favorable meeting date to take up the issue again.

B. A. Tarver, parish board president, said he would consult next week with board members and Superintendent Milton Hall. The Ouachita panel, also Tuesday, approved a district tax for education in principle but rejected Womack's bill in its present form.

In supporting his position that sales tax gathered in one parish should be in part spent in another, Womack offered his own set of figures on money spent in a given parish as compared with spendable income of its inhabitants.

He said $182 million is spent in the 13 parishes surrounding Ouachita while the spendable income was placed at $259 million, a difference of $76 million.

He concluded that a "goodly portion" of the difference was spent in Monroe. "The money has a right to go back where it started."

Towards the end of the meeting, H. H. and Monroe Superintendent Van D. Odum balked when Womack said he advocated a minimum wage of $1.25 for lunchroom workers. Both superintendents maintained that the workers in area parishes are paid less than in Ouachita and consequently, a fixed figure would pay and that which it would receive have been the figure gave way to a percent source of much local opposition age increase.

Womack offered to fly to Monroe next week to meet with any was set when Ouachita's Rep. one to discuss his proposal.

George Wood said that both local boards had informed him that they were against the bill. Board offices on Bry St.

Communists Being Killed At 10-1 Ratio

SAIGON (UPI) — Two surrounded U.S. paratrooper companies held off an estimated Communist battalion of more than 350 men for the second straight night Friday and continued fighting into today in a battle that appeared to be developing into the biggest of the war. Five rescue columns drove separately through jungle under intense Communist fire in an effort to reach the trapped companies.

Observers said the battle might signal a new phase in the war because the North Vietnamese regulars stood and fought — a departure from their classic hit-run guerrilla tactics.

Intelligence officers said there were unconfirmed reports that there might be a division headquarters in the area that the Communists were trying to protect and evacuate. Other reports said there might be at least two Communist prisoner of war camps in the area.

EIGHT EVACUATED

During the night, a U.S. Marine helicopter desperately trying to reach the men to evacuate the wounded was shot down. Two U.S. Army helicopters managed to get in briefly Friday and evacuate eight of the most seriously wounded.

But Communist fire from at least one, and possibly more, 50 caliber machineguns on ridges firing down on the paratroopers made it virtually impossible for complete medical evacuation.

The Communist death toll had climbed to at least 573, reports from the front said, and undoubtedly would climb much higher. Paratrooper brigade commander Gen. Willard Pearson said he believed the kill ratio would be at least 10 to one — 10 Communists killed for every American dead.

There was no immediate word about the crew of the downed helicopter.

Across a broad range of jungle hills and valleys in Kontum Province American paratroopers and cavalrymen and South Vietnamese troops, in a multi-battalion force of thousands, were locked in bitter combat with the enemy.

In a series of sizable engagements, the allies were inflicting mounting casualties on a huge Communist force estimated as high as 7,000 elite troops. The exact size of the allied force was a secret but U.S. Army battalions number at least 800 men each.

The stand of the 101st Airborne Division's two spearhead companies against overwhelming odds was writing a new chapter of valor in the war. The heroism of the two companies, commanded by Capt. Bill "Lonesome End" Carpenter of West Point football fame and Capt. Walter Brown of Chattanooga, Tenn., captured the imagination of the free world.

Brig. Gen. Willard Pearson, Commander of the division's 1st Brigade, called it "our biggest and best fight, our greatest battle." White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers called it "an inspiring chapter in the Viet Nam story."

Two Army helicopters braved sheets of Communist machinegun fire to evacuate the eight most seriously wounded members of the brigade's "A" and "C" companies. U.S. artillery curtained the trapped men with such heavy fire rescue teams could not land.

Soviet Union Stepping Up Aid To Cong

MOSCOW (AP) — Communist leader Leonid I. Brezhnev said Friday the Soviet Union is making new efforts to help speed up a Viet Cong victory in South Viet Nam.

The statement was made without explanation or elaboration. It came after an oft-repeated promise of "the necessary assistance on an ever-increasing scale" to Communists in Viet Nam.

Brezhnev, the general secretary of the Soviet Communist party, voiced a moderate thought somewhat harder line on Viet Nam than had been expressed just two days ago by Premier Alexei N. Kosygin. The party controls the government here.

Brezhnev also implied that there was little prospect of an agreement with the West on disarmament or halting the spread of nuclear weapons until there is a solution of what he called the two "most important problems" in the world today: an end of what he called "American aggression in Viet Nam" and "ensuring European security."

Past Soviet statements and Brezhnev's brief remarks on Germany indicated that European security means making sure West Germany is military weak and especially that it does not have nuclear weapons.

Solution of the two problems "would alter the entire world situation and thereby make easier realization of other aims important to all the peoples of the world," Brezhnev said. He cause of the blaze was incomplete.

The building, which occupied the 100-block of Elysian Fields St., is bordered by the Illinois railroad along one length, and Elysian Fields St.

Neither the yard nor nearby business establishments were threatened by fire, officials said.

Lesser firefighting efforts and cleanup continued on until late in the night, officials said, with two firemen to remain all night on lookout.

Police Major George Whitlow, arriving on the scene just before firetrucks, described the scene: "White smoke just poured from all around the complex, with occasional flames shooting up. When the firemen hit it with water — all you could see was black smoke and fire."

Mrs. Traylor could give no estimate on the damage or loss, in the absence of the owner. "It must be terrific, though, there were several trucks, all kinds of tools, office equipment — I just don't know."

She said that two of the company's current projects, the Downsview High School, and American Bank, were nearly complete, and that the fire would probably not affect their completion "whatsoever."

Firemen were called out on the fire at 4:48 p.m. according to dispatcher Melvin Johnston after a yard worker's call from the nearby railroad.

Womack's District Bill

Veto, Better Split On Tax Suggested

By VERNON GUIDRY
World Staff Writer

Rep. Lantz Womack Friday offered the possibility of giving any one school board the power to veto over his legislative proposal to allow boards in the 14-parish Fifth District to call for a one-cent sales tax election to boost school salaries.

The Franklin Parish legislator, speaking in Monroe to school superintendents, board members and government officials from the district, said he might amend his bill to require unanimous approval of all school boards, thus giving any one a veto.

DISCUSSION STAGE

Womack left both the veto and money split in the discussion stage, leaving the initiative to the Ouachita and Monroe boards after telling them to "find something you can live with" in the way of a compromise on the tax. The legislator said he had found no "serious opposition" in other parishes.

Wood said he would poll the local boards for reaction after they have a chance to study the proposals aired at the meeting and adopt the position they indicated.

The "alternative" on the revenue division would implement the second half of teachers' salary raises throughout the district plus raising lunchroom and other workers from the total money collected district wide. The remainder would be divided among the parishes according to the per centage they paid.

Hall, at Tuesday's meeting of the parish board, voiced the opinion that such a plan might receive support locally.

Both Lancaster and Womack doused the notion that a state sales tax would be passed for teachers' salaries and added that the district bill would mean more money for education.

"I don't see any possibility of a state sales tax," Lancaster said.

Commenting on a current bill for a state tax to implement salaries, Womack said Gov. John J. McKeithen, "has committed himself. I don't think he would sign it (if it passed the legislature)."

The Monroe board's resolution rejecting the district tax had called for the state tax to boost school pay. Womack said that the state bill would only raise salaries whereas the district measure would do that and supply money for other uses.

Also discussed was the "alternative" of a more favorable money split for Ouachita Parish. The share that Ouachita would pay and that which it would receive have been the source of much local opposition to the measure.

The stage for talk of a veto was set when Ouachita's Rep. George Wood said that both local boards had informed him that they were against the bill.

He added flatly, "We're out." Rep. Ed Lancaster of Madison, whom Womack introduced as "my main legal counsel," said that "talking practical politics," Wood and Rep. Lawrence Gibbs — not at the meeting — could have Ouachita pulled out when the measure came up in the House.

"We're doomed if all don't go along," Lancaster said.

To Wood's statement, Womack replied, "Yeah, but that's the way it (the bill) is now," and opened the door to compromise.

Monroe School Board President W. S. Gannaway left the meeting with the comment that alternatives were "worth exploring." The phrase was a moderation of the resolution passed by the board Tuesday going on record as directly opposing the district tax. Gannaway said he would poll his board by phone for a favorable meeting date to take up the issue again.

B. A. Tarver, parish board president, said he would consult next week with board members and Superintendent Milton Hall. The Ouachita panel, also Tuesday, approved a district tax for education in principle but rejected Womack's bill in its present form.

In supporting his position that sales tax gathered in one parish should be in part spent in another, Womack offered his own set of figures on money spent in a given parish as compared with spendable income of its inhabitants.

He said $182 million is spent in the 13 parishes surrounding Ouachita while the spendable income was placed at $259 million, a difference of $76 million.

He concluded that a "goodly portion" of the difference was spent in Monroe. "The money has a right to go back where it started."

Towards the end of the meeting, Hall and Monroe Superintendent Van D. Odum balked when Womack said he advocated a minimum wage of $1.25 for lunchroom workers. Both superintendents maintained that the workers in area parishes are paid less than in Ouachita and consequently, a fixed figure would give others more of the tax pie.

Womack offered to fly to Monroe next week to meet with anyone to discuss his proposal.

Friday's meeting was held at the Ouachita Parish School Board offices on Bry St.

Door Opened To Control Of Pink Bollworm Moth

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government scientists reported Friday the isolation and laboratory duplication of the sex attractant of the voracious pink bollworm moth.

They said this opens the way to use of the chemical to help control this major agricultural pest. The moth is one of the most destructive insects in the cotton-growing areas of the world.

The idea would be to bait traps with the chemical — a duplicate of the famed moth's come-hither substance — so as to lure males to their destruction. A team of researchers of the Department of Agriculture's Beltsville, Md., station told about it in a report in the technical journal "Science."

Chemical name of the natural substance — only 1.6 milligrams of which was isolated from a extract prepared from the bodies of 850,000 virgin female moths — is much longer than a moth's body or its wingspread. The name: "10-propyl-trans-5,9-tridecadienyl acetate." But the scientists suggest "propylure" for short.

The natural stuff is so potent, the researchers reported, that air expelled from an instrument containing a dilute solution of the chemical and then stored at cool temperature for six weeks was still attractive to male moths caged in the laboratory.

Index of sexual excitement among the males was a kind of aerial dance — including rapid wing-flapping and excited flight.

The scientists indicated the manmade version of the stuff was equally powerful.

The report pointed out that since 1962, comparatively crude extracts, obtained from female moths, have been used to bait traps so as to lure males.

But the scientists indicated that isolation of the active, basic attractant — and perfection of a technique to duplicate it artificially — might facilitate the war on the pests.

The scientists participating in the development were William A. Jones, Martin Jacobson and Dial F. Martin.

Two U.S. Army helicopters managed to get in briefly Friday and evacuate eight of the most seriously wounded. But Communist fire from at least one, and possibly more, 50 caliber machineguns on ridges firing down on the paratroopers made it virtually impossible for complete medical evacuation.

The Communist death toll had climbed to at least 573, reports from the front said, and undoubtedly would climb much higher. Paratroop brigade commander Gen. Willard Pearson said he believed the kill ratio would be at least 10 to one—10 Communists killed for every American death.

There was no immediate word about the crew of the downed helicopter.

Across a broad range of jungle hills and valleys in Kontum Province American paratroopers and cavalymen and South Vietnamese troops, in a multi-battalion force of thousands, were locked in bitter combat with the enemy.

In a series of sizable engagements, the allies were inflicting mounting casualties on a huge Communist force estimated as high as 7,000 elite troops. The exact size of the allied force was a secret but U.S. Army battalions number at least 800 men each.

The stand of the 101st Airborne Division's two spearhead companies against overwhelming odds was writing a new chapter of valor in the war. The heroism of the two companies, commanded by Capt. Bill "Lonesome End" Carpenter of West Point football fame and Capt. Walter Brown of Chattanooga, Tenn., captured the imagination of the free world.

Brig. Gen. Willard Pearson, Commander of the division's 1st Brigade, called it "our biggest and best fight, our greatest battle." White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers called it "an inspiring chapter in the Viet Nam story."

Two Army helicopters braved sheets of Communist machinegun fire to evacuate the eight most seriously wounded members of the brigade's "A" and "C" companies. U.S. artillery curtained the trapped men with such heavy fire rescue teams could not land.

Rights Group Moves Into Batesville

BATESVILLE, Miss. (AP) — The Meredith "march against fear" moved down another 15 miles of northern Mississippi on Friday and the group swelled to about 600 going into Batesville for the first overnight encampment.

Civil rights groups around the country announced rallies for Sunday as the 225-mile walk to the state capital at Jackson passed the quarter mark.

Highway patrolmen escorting the marchers down U.S. 31 arrested the driver of a dump truck who veered dangerously close to the head of the line. Earlier, another dump truck had edged onto the shoulder of the road where the Negroes — and about 30 whites — were walking.

Officers hustled the truck driver away. He was not identified.

At Batesville, the weary, hungry marchers found an L-shaped table laden with fried chicken, barbecued beef, sandwiches, punch and cake. A huge tent had been set up on lush turf in the yard of the Coleman Chapel A.M.E. Zion church.

Along the march route there was a brief argument between the marchers and the highway patrol, but — except for the truck incidents — there was no trouble. About 600 whites watched the two-abreast procession move through the business district into the Negro section where the church is located. Batesville is a community of 4,500. The population is evenly divided between Negroes and whites.

The tent was not furnished, but there were some bedrolls and blankets.

400 Riot Police Moved Into Hue

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky sent 400 riot police into Hue Friday and, as if to show his government has weathered the Buddhist-led storm of opposition, announced he will visit South Korea next week.

Planes moved the specially trained policemen from Saigon to the holdout Buddhist stronghold in the north, where troops of the dissidence-ridden 1st Vietnamese Division have been taking their time about restoring the city fully to the government's control.

Buddhist militants, who are headed by the hunger-striking Thich Tri Quang, announced a mass demonstration for today. Quang presumably will not be on hand. He was hospitalized and described as very weak in the third day of his protest fast. But he said he will carry on until President Johnson withdraws American support from the military government.

The demonstration — to commemorate the third anniversary of the first Buddhist human sacrifice by fire in Viet Nam for political aims — could lead to a clash with riot police. It could also spark antigovernment action by local army units, some of them under Buddhist influence.

Monk Quang Duc set himself aflame in a Saigon street June 11, 1963. He was the first of seven Buddhists to kill themselves in that fashion in the uprising that destroyed President Ngo Dinh Diem and his regime. Nine have burned themselves to death in the spring campaign against Ky.

Radio Hue, again in government hands, announced that Buddhist household altars still cluttering streets of Hue may be removed by force if the people leave them out.

Despite these signs of tension, Ky's office said the premier will fly to Seoul Monday for a top-level conference with South Korea's leaders.

Ky is also expected to address the Asia-Pacific foreign ministers conference on economic and cultural affairs to be held there next week. His major aim, however, is to tighten his bonds with Korea.

Already 25,000 Korean troops are fighting the Communist Viet Cong alongside the Vietnamese, American and other allied forces. Some 17,000 more Koreans are expected in August. Ky feels a particular debt of gratitude to that Asian nation's military aid.

Nevertheless, a major outbreak of rioting in Hue could lead to a postponement of the trip.

For the time being, the government appeared unperturbed by the weak and somewhat disorganized Buddhist agitation.

Ky and his advisers were more concerned by the galloping inflation and the steadily rising cost of living. Since May 1965 consumer prices have risen 55 per cent, heavily affecting the working class.

U.S. advisers are participating in efforts to stop the trend. Americans feel at least partly responsible, largely due to the influx of American military and construction personnel and the pressure on the economy by large-scale imports of American products.

There also were indications that Ky, an air force general, intends to power a year ago, brought to stay in politics even after a civilian government is named.

Government sources said the premier deleted from the draft of the projected electoral law a paragraph banning candidates who have family ties in North Viet Nam.

Ky, who comes from Hanoi, the capital of the Communist North, was thus hinting that he himself may be running in the September elections for the Constituent Assembly. He has a house and relatives in Hanoi.

There were new signs of agitation in Saigon's Buddhist Institute, none of them taken seriously by the government. In what by now amounted to a routine communique, the institute reiterated demands for the military regime's resignation, giving the government 48 hours to react.

After that time, the communique said, "all monks will volunteer to go to prison" and the institute will "not be responsible for any action by Buddhists."

Still pondered at the United Nations was the government's request for U.N. observers to oversee the September election. The June president of the Security Council, Ambassador Frank H. Corner of New Zealand, told newsmen in New York that consultations might go on for another week or two.

Corner said he had consulted the 15 members on the request and found a majority for it in principle, but there was "not a lot of steam behind it."

State Board Of Pharmacy Action Noted

The state Board of Pharmacy Friday revoked for six months the ethical license of Paul Lasseigne a Rayne pharmacist, accused of irregularities in connection with a Welfare Department drug program.

Redfield Bryan of Baton Rouge, board chairman, said Lasseigne will be able to practice pharmacy but "can't have the privilege of being an ethical pharmacist and can't hang a certificate in his window."

Welfare department auditors said Lasseigne was charged after Director A. Garland Bonin said 18 pharmacists were overcharging welfare recipients for drugs.

Under the welfare department medical vendor program pharmacists are reimbursed for medicines dispensed to old age assistance patients.

Board secretary Frank Boggs of Ferriday said two druggists, Hervest Boudoin of Columbia and John David of Minden, were reinstated March 22. Their suspensions had been in effect since March 15.

Welfare auditor Frank Banks, said Lasseigne's vendor number with the department was not revoked as he is making restitution. Four other druggists cited in the vendor program has already made restitution.

Senate Move Slated On Driver Measure

By MILO DAKIN
World Legislative Correspondent
BATON ROUGE — The Senate will decide Monday which committee gets a House-passed bill raising the minimum age for obtaining driver's license from 15 to 16 years of age.

The measure sponsored by Rep. Luther Cole of Baton Rouge passed the House 65-33, and was introduced as a move to eventually curb rising casualty insurance rates in Louisiana.

The bill would allow 15-year-olds to begin driving after having successfully completed a driver education course, or if they were engaged in agriculture pursuits. The agriculture provision is expected to run into Senate trouble. Rep. Eddie LeBreton of New Orleans suggested signs to identify who was or who was not engaged in the farming business. "How can you tell?" he questioned.

Cole's bill originally set the age hike to 16½ years but the extra six months was cut in a floor amendment.

The drivers education qualification at 15 years also came in the form of a floor amendment, tacked on by Rep. Gordon Causey of Tangipahoa.

Here is how they voted in Northeast Louisiana:
For the bill: Rep. Vail De-lony, East Carroll; Rep. W. K. Brown, Grant; Rep. Benny Christian, Richland; Rep. Marvin Culpepper, Jackson; Rep. S. S. DeWitt, Tensas; Rep. George Holstead, Lincoln; Rep. Edgar Lancaster, Madison; Rep. Lantz Womack, Franklin; Rep. James Smith, Union.

Against the bill: Rep. George Wood, Ouachita; Rep. W. J. Richardson, Caldwell; Rep. David Patten, Catahoula; Rep. Allen Haley, West Carroll; Rep. Ashton Collier, Winn.

Not voting: Rep. Lawrence Gibbs, Ouachita; Rep. James McCormack, Morehouse; Rep. Fred Schiele, Concordia; Rep. Max Maxwell, LaSalle Parish.

News Strike Expected To End Shortly

NEW YORK (UPI) — New York Newspaper Guild executive vice president Thomas J. Murphy predicted Friday that the 48-day old strike against the recently merged World Journal Tribune Inc. could be ended "by Tuesday or Wednesday."

"We can wrap it up by Tuesday or Wednesday if we get the same kind of approach from management we have had over the past few days," Murphy said, following meetings between the guild and the publishers.

Negotiators planned to meet at least one day during the weekend in an effort to iron out the remaining differences between the yet-to-be published paper and the unions. Murphy, also said there had been an apparent "change of signals" on the part of the management. Meetings with two of the still-unsatisfied craft unions were recessed indefinitely, he said, apparently pending developments in talks with the guild.

Channel Work Contract Given

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — A $135,621 Army engineer contract was awarded Friday to a Slidell, La. firm to deepen the Bayou La Batre, Ala., channel.

The award was to the F. J. J. Sloat Dredging Co., the low bidder at a May 25 bid opening. The government estimate was $185,561.

The contractor will deepen the channel from its present nine feet to the 12 feet authorized by Congress last year.

The channel actually will be dredged to a 14-foot depth over a distance of 6.3 miles. The two feet of overdepth will be for advance maintenance, lengthens the time before dredging will be necessary as a result of shoaling.

400 Riot Police Moved Into Hue

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky sent 400 riot police into Hue Friday and, as if to show his government has weathered the Buddhist-led storm of opposition, announced he will visit South Korea next week.

Planes moved the specially trained policemen from Saigon to the holdout Buddhist stronghold in the north, where troops of the discredited 1st Vietnamese Division have been taking their time about restoring the city fully to the government's control.

Barge Loaded With Acid Sinks

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A barge loaded with 1,000 tons of hydrochloric acid sank in the Mississippi River about 15 river miles north of Memphis early Friday. The Coast Guard reported.

It was not known whether the acid was escaping into the water but health officials here warned swimmers to stay out of the water because of the dangers involved in touching or swallowing it.

The barge, part of eight being pushed by the towboat Dennis Brown, was reported to be sunk with one end at the river bottom and the other end sticking out of the water. It was owned by the Dow Chemical Co. of Midland, Mich.

Cause of the sinking was not immediately known.

Alligator Benevolence Is Headache

Misdirected benevolence toward alligators by the public is proving to be a headache for local members of the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission.

Fawn, too, are adding to the problem. Between the two — young deer and young alligators — the Commission is in a dither.

The problem springs from the desire of Ouachita Parish residents to add to the family of 16 alligators now in captivity at Bernstein Park Zoo. But the Zoo has all the alligators it can manage.

Duties of the commission include the protection and replenishment of wild life resources and the enforcement of rules. One of the rules, Act 263, Sec. 10, states that it is against the law to take possession of alligators, their eggs or skins in any parish within the state. Louisiana has a closed season on alligators and the penalty for violation ranges from $75 and-or 30 days in jail for the first offense to $500 and-or six months in jail for the third offense.

This is also the time of year when deer are born. Some persons, unaware of the problem they create, capture the baby deer for pets. When the deer is again turned loose, it is victimized by dogs, hunters, cars or starvation. Only a small percentage of such animals live. Occasionally, too, the parent deer injure children attempting to capture the fawn. Often, when the fawn appears to be orphaned, he has merely strayed.

So it is the urgent request of the commission that persons bothered by alligators in private ponds refrain from capturing them, themselves, rather, call the commission.

FINDS FAMILY

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A woman's four-year search for a family unaware of her existence has ended. Josephine Rendick, a waitress, has met for the first time her brother, Michael Mucka of New Brighton, and her sister, Ann Shrella of Sharpville.

Mrs. Rendick asked help in finding her family after she was told she was an adopted child. The search began in February 1962.

Billy Frost

Funeral services for Billy Daniel Frost, 13, of Route 3, West Monroe, will be held at 2 p.m. today in the Cypress Baptist Church with the Rev. Charles Sutton officiating.

Burial under the direction of Hixson Brothers Funeral Home will be in the church cemetery. The youth died Thursday morning in a Shreveport hospital following a short illness.

A native of Ouachita parish, he was a student at the West Monroe Junior High School.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. ## Inmate Loses Fight To Get Mail Rights

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A federal appeals court refused Friday to order the Louisiana state prison warden to grant Edgar Labat full mail privileges.

Labat, a Negro in his 12th year on death row, had his mail chopped off when prison officials discovered he was carrying on a pen pal correspondence with a white woman—Mrs. Solveig Johansen of Stockholm, Sweden.

At the time, the reason given was that Negro prisoners could not correspond with white women. Later, officials said this explanation was in error, but that such unofficial correspondence was a violation of death row regulations.

The prison officials said law restricts death row inmates to mail only from family, physician or legal advisors.

The regulation was upheld by a federal district court — and again by today's decision from the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Labat was convicted of assisting in the rape of a white woman in New Orleans and sentenced to death in the electric chair. Numerous appeals have averted execution. His time on death row is a modern record.

Presidential Electors To Be Selected

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—A new move to keep the Democratic Party presidential nominee off the Louisiana ballot in 1968 was approved Friday by the state Democratic Central Committee.

It voted 54-39 for a motion by Leander H. Perez, an ardent "States Rights" advocate, to call a party primary election to pick presidential electors.

Under the plan, one slate of electors would be pledged to the nominee of the national Democratic Party—the others would be independent or possibly pledged to Gov. George Wallace of Alabama.

The winner, under the resolution, would get the Democratic place on the November, 1968 ballot, no matter what the actual intention of the electors might be.

Perez sprang the motion as a surprise. The committee session had been called as a routine meeting to call the election of a U.S. senator.

A similar resolution was passed in 1963 but later nullified by the committee when "loyalist" Democrats regained control.

"In the past several years," said Perez, in an attack on the Democratic Party, "going back to the adoption of the primary election laws, we have deprived the people of the right of choice of their presidential electors. Therefore, we have been responsible for what has happened to the solid South."

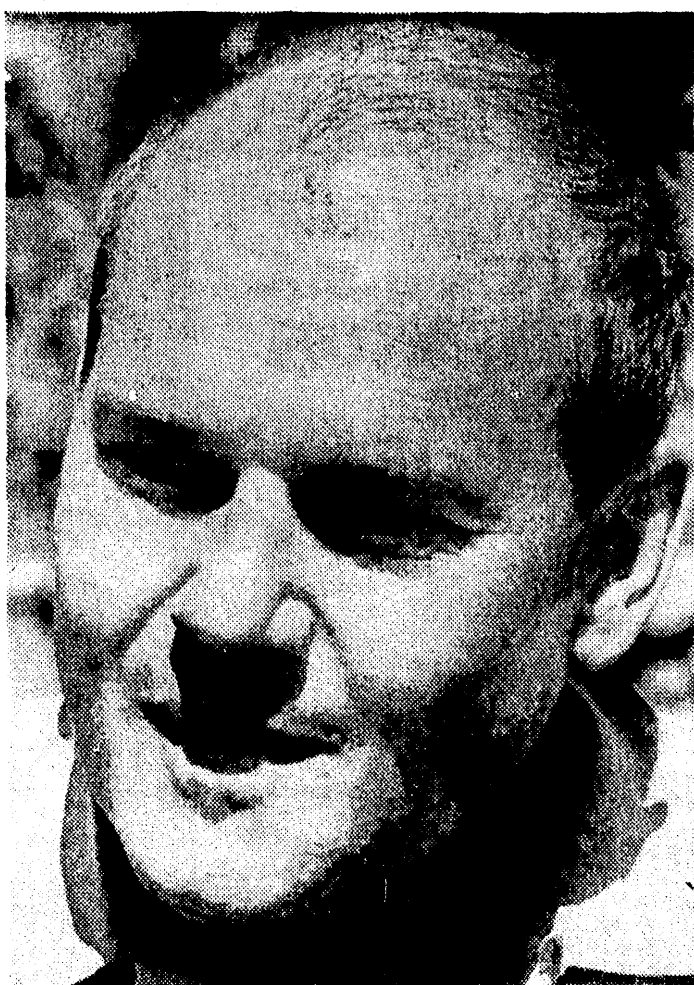

Perez said the state's delegates to the Democratic National Convention have had no voice and "everyone knows what a downright farce it is, and how our delegates have been completely ignored."

Perez said if electors pledged to the Democratic National Convention lose in the primaries they may not get on the November ballot.

But he said they could be listed under the donkey emblem, or any other they chose, as independents in the general election if 1,000 voters petitioned.

The rooster emblem of the state party traditionally has carried great weight with voters. The main business of the committee was to set a June 17 deadline for candidates to qualify in the summer congressional primaries.

Sen. Allen Ellender and state Sen. J. D. DeBlieux of Baton Rouge, known for his party loyalty and liberal views, qualified as Democratic candidates for the U.S. Senate.

THIS IS how Samuel H. Sheppard looked Friday as he met with newsmen after learning that he will be tried again for the 1954 slaying of his first wife, Marilyn. Sheppard and his second wife, Ariane, held a news conference on the lawn outside their apartment home in suburban Rocky River. Sheppard said he was "eager to attain complete vindication." ## Mississippi Escapee Is Recaptured

COLUMBIA, Miss. (AP)—A youthful escapee from Marion County jail Friday was recaptured by officers. He had wriggled through a duct, supplied made off with guns. Sheriff John Willoughby said the 14-year-old Gulfport youth fled the jail Thursday night and reappeared about 8 a.m., pulling a pistol on William Stewart in his yard here.

Mrs. Stewart, the sheriff said, telephoned police after witnessing the scene through a window, and the youth was chased down in the alley. Willoughby said the youth threw away the gun somewhere in between.

The youth, who was not identified because of age, was one of seven Columbia Training School inmates being held at the jail, which had eight other prisoners at the time.

The sheriff said the youth passed out six cans of beer and a bottle of vodka to the inmates after freeing himself. The vodka was stored in the jailhouse after seizure as contraband.

Also taken was $300-400 cash, jewelry, guns and ammunition from the lower-floor apartment in the jail of Chief Deputy Homer Sibley, who was away on business when the escape occurred.

Ohio Orders New Trial For Sheppard

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Declaring that a "heinous crime" must be punished, the state of Ohio Friday ordered a new trial for convicted wife-slayer Samuel H. Sheppard.

Sheppard, who served more than nine years in prison for the slaying of his first wife, said he was "all for" a new trial and that he would take the stand in his own defense.

"This is wonderful," the 42-year-old, one-time society ocellist said. "I'm ready to go to trial—tonight if necessary."

The new trial was ordered by Cuyahoga County Prosecutor John T. Corrigan, whose office prosecuted Sheppard successfully in 1954.

"Society has been the victim of a heinous crime which demands redress," Corrigan said. "This is a government of law, not a government of men."

Sheppard will be re-tried on a second degree murder charge, the same charge he was convicted of 12 years ago.

The trial date will be set by Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court, but Corrigan said "September would be a good guess." He said the September date would be in line with Monday's U.S. Supreme Court ruling that Sheppard be re-tried within a reasonable time or freed.

Corrigan said Sheppard would be allowed to post new bond and remain free until the trial date. The prosecutor said he himself would handle the prosecution "along with two assistants."

Sheppard, who has remarried since his first wife, Marilyn, 30, was bludgeoned in their suburban Bay Village home July 4, 1954, said he had no fears "except for my wife."

"She's lost a little weight and I'm worried about her losing more," Sheppard said. "But as far as my fears and apprehensions, I have none. I know I can prove my innocence."

"This case should be thrown out of court once we get there. But I shouldn't speak from a legal standpoint. But what facts and evidence I am aware of, it seems to me the state does not have a case."

Sheppard said he would be willing to "take any sort of lie detector test as long as it is administered by experts." He said he did not believe the Cleveland police to be expert. Sheppard and his second wife, the former Ariane Tebbenhoff, a native of Germany

Installation Conducted By Fraternity

New officers of the Delta Nu Alpha Traffic and Transportation Fraternity were installed Friday night at the fraternity's annual banquet at the Highland Park Contry Club, West Monroe.

Guy T. Elliott Jr. was elected president to succeed Chuck Raggio.

Other officers elected were Charles Russell, vice-president; and Clyde Durbow, secretary-treasurer; the following board members were elected: T. R. Percell, one-year term; Travis Davis, two-year term; and K. Cobb, three-year term.

Floyd Adams, regional national vice-president, installed the officers.

Certificates were presented to 28 students who recently completed a traffic and transportation course. The course was offered at the Ouachita Valley Vocational-Technical School in West Monroe.

Purpose of the fraternity is to upgrade the industry through education and improved performance.

Mr. Rockett died Thursday at a Houston hospital after a long illness.

Alligator Benevolence Is Headache

Misdirected benevolence toward alligators by the public is proving to be a headache for local members of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission.

Fawn, too, are adding to the problem. Between the two — young deer and young alligators — the Commission is in a dither.

The problem springs from the desire of Ouachita Parish residents to add to the family of 16 alligators now in captivity at Bernstein Park Zoo. But the Zoo has all the alligators it can manage.

Duties of the commission include the protection and replenishment of wild life resources and the enforcement of rules. One of the rules, Act 263, Sec. 10, states that it is against the law to take possession of alligators, their eggs or skins in any parish within the state. Louisiana has a closed season on alligators and the penalty for violation ranges from $75 and-or 30 days in jail for the first offense to $500 and-or six months in jail for the third offense.

This is also the time of year when deer are born. Some persons, unaware of the problem they create, capture the baby deer for pets. When the deer is again turned loose, it is victimized by dogs, hunters, cars or starvation. Only a small percentage of such animals live. Occasionally, too, the parent deer injure children attempting to capture the fawn. Often, when the fawn appears to be orphaned, he has merely strayed.

So it is the urgent request of the commission that persons bothered by alligators in private ponds refrain from capturing them, themselves, rather, call the commission.

FINDS FAMILY

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A woman's four-year search for a family unaware of her existence has ended. Josephine Rendick, a waitress, has met for the first time her brother, Michael Mucicka of New Brighton, and her sister, Ann Shrella of Sharpsville.

Mrs. Rendick asked help in finding her family after she was told she was an adopted child. The search began in February 1962.

Billy Frost

Funeral services for Billy Daniel Frost, 13, of Route 3, West Monroe, will be held at 2 p.m. today in the Cypress Baptist Church with the Rev. Charles Sutton officiating.

Burial under the direction of Hixson Brothers Funeral Home will be in the church cemetery. The youth died Thursday morning in a Shreveport hospital following a short illness.

A native of Ouachita parish, he was a student at the West Monroe Junior High School.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. ## Ohio Orders New Trial For Sheppard

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Declaring that a "heinous crime" must be punished, the state of Ohio Friday ordered a new trial for convicted wife-slayer Samuel H. Sheppard.

Sheppard, who served more than nine years in prison for the slaying of his first wife, said he was "all for" a new trial and that he would take the stand in his own defense.

whom he married in 1964, watched Corrigan's televised press conference in an upstairs bedroom of their suburban Rocky River home.

"This is the day I've been waiting for," Sheppard said. "I have asked for it. Not so much for myself but for my family, my wife, my son and all our relatives."

"I'm used to this, but these people have been living with it for years and I think the strain is getting to them."

Sheppard said he planned no civil action against the press resulting from coverage of his first trial.

In a 29-page opinion, the Supreme Court said unrestricted coverage by news media made Sheppard's trial a carnival.

Corrigan said the press would not be permitted special seats at the new trial—a privilege which the high court criticized—and all seats would be on a first come, first served basis.

Are Housewives Silly?

In pushing its onerous fight for so-called "truth in packaging," the national administration is assuming one of the most ridiculous positions on record. It virtually says that housewives are silly and that they don't know whether or not they are being cheated in buying food.

To counter that absurd claim, we make the assertion, without equivocation, that it is our belief that if the government used even one-half as much sense in making its purchases as does the housewife, it would be possible to cut withholding taxes by more than 25 per cent without losing anything in efficiency.

The government again makes itself ridiculous when it contends that if a package containing a cereal is a little bigger than is absolutely necessary for its contents, the manufacturer is engaged in deceptive packaging. As a matter of fact, it is much easier to get the food out of package that is a little bigger than is necessary. And who cares, when he buys a package of corn flakes, whether the container could hold a few ounces more or is jam-packed. If there is a pound or a half-pound in each of the packages, the customer is actually getting a little more for his money in the bigger package than in the smaller one. And no one is fooled as to the amount in the package, since the weight of the contents is given.

If the Johnson administration has its way, the federal government will go into the business of checking whether boxes of cold cereal are filled to the brim and whether "super-sized cartons of soap powder are really "super." And it will spend a lot of our tax money doing that checking.

This is petty legislation and sillier than the government assumes housewives to be.

As usual, the government is much more intent on getting the "note" out of someone else's eye than in getting the "beam" out of its own eye.

The proposed legislation is not only absurd but irritating because the Johnson administration is so contemptuous of truth when packaging information for the American people. This was demonstrated when an official spokesman for the administration once said: "The federal government has an inherent right to lie" to the people. Wherein does the right of the government exceed the right of the people in a democracy in which the people are supposed to be the ones who do the governing?

A "truth in packaging," law would be a fine thing if it applied to statements by government spokesmen. United States Representative Durwood G. Hall, R., Mo., made precisely this proposal in a recent speech before the Southern States Industrial Council. He asserted that any "truth in packaging" legislation should apply to statements made by federal officials, citing the statement by Assistant Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester, that "the federal government has an inherent right to lie."

In issuing some of their statements, many Washington officials certainly must do so with their fingers crossed if they have any regard whatever for telling the truth. All too frequently, these statements simply cannot be believed by the people. And this isn't anything like a box of ginger snaps that could hold a couple more cookies if they were jammed into it.

Buyers of the administration's legislative packages are losing much more than a few pennies. They are losing their liberties. Supposedly, the Medicare program was to be strictly a humanitarian program. That was the way the package was sold to the public and, undoubtedly, to some members of Congress. But Medicare is being used as a huge, cruel club to force hospitals to operate in ways they believe bad for their patients and for medical care in general. Unless a hospital submits to all orders of federal inspectors, it won't be given funds to make the treatment of Medicare patients possible. If the hospital refuses to submit to these indignities, the government attempts to give it a black name by claiming it won't cooperate in treating those who are poor or aged. Thus, the Medicare program is used as another club.

As Thurman Sensing, Southern news analyst, pointed out, in considering "truth in packaging," one should begin with the label "The Great Society." If federal officials can inquire into whether a box of soap flakes is truly "super," the public should have the right to inquire whether "The Great Society" is truly "great." Would a really great society build up vast debts to unload on the next generation of Americans? Would a great society deny to a homeowner his right to rent or sell to whom he pleases? Would a great society use tricky methods of tax collection to confuse the public into believing the deficit is not as large as it is? The Johnson "Great Society" is doing all these things.

If "truth in packaging" applied to the Johnson administration, there would have to be tremendous reforms. Consider the so-called "civil rights" legislation. If truth were a requirement, the White House would be compelled to admit that the real goal of the "civil rights" bill is to pack the voter rolls with new voters, irrespective of their lack of ability to understand and judge public issues.

If there were "truth in packaging" legislation covering government activities, the Great Society would have to report poor accounting procedures and waste of public funds. The bureaucrats would have to disclose the exact cost of training someone in the Job Corps.

If there were "truth in packaging" for government, the administration would have to reveal that its real aim in cracking down on anti-communist Rhodesia was to get votes in the Harlems of the nation. It also would have to confess that the Executive Branch usurped the right of Congress by taking economic action against Rhodesia.

"Truth in packaging" also would reveal why the administration wants a tax increase when billions of dollars in welfare statist programs could be eliminated.

It will be a mighty cold day in August, however, when the Great Society approves "truth in packaging" as applied to itself. If truth were the standard, the Great Society would be out of business.

Even in presenting its arguments for "truth in packaging," the federal government is being more deceptive than the old-time horse-trader who would trade a bone-spavined, 15-year-old nag for a fine, young horse if he could hypnotize his victim into accepting such a trade.

When the truth is told, the "truth in packaging" program is another tentacle of the giant government octopus which is strangling the life out of free enterprise in the United States.

The Other Roosevelt

Theodore Roosevelt once said: "The things that will destroy America are peace at any price, prosperity at any price, safety first instead of duty first, love of soft living and the get-rich-quick theory of life."

This was the first President Roosevelt of the United States, not the one who was to become the granddaddy of socialism, forced integration, Medicare and rule by the "autocracy," namely the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

We doubt if any wiser or truer words were ever spoken than those uttered by President Theodore Roosevelt, who was a Republican.

Just think what a difference it would have made to this country if we could have had two President Theodore Roosevelts, instead of one Theodore and one Franklin.

Kennedy Trip Seen As Stunt South Africa Junket Doesn't Boost Chances

WHATEVER political capital "Bobby" Kennedy hopes to garner from his grandstanding junket to South Africa, he can forget it as far as most of his Senate colleagues are concerned.

Among them, his trip is derisively viewed as another publicity stunt in his furious pursuit of the presidency.

This sardonic attitude is in keeping with the underlying dislike, distrust and disapproval of him that is widespread among "Bobby's" colleagues. With the exception of a small coterie of eager newcomers who flutter about him like moths around a flame, he rates far down the Senate list in popularity and esteem.

The feeling is general among both Democrats and Republicans that he is high-handed, ruthless, power-grabbing and consumed by an inordinate White House ambition; that everything he says and does is motivated by this dominating passion.

IN CHATS among themselves and guarded comments to others, the lawmakers disparagingly compare "Bobby" with his late brother.

The former President genuinely liked the Senate. To "Bobby" it is primarily a stepping stone, a means to an end, colleagues believe. As a legislator, his brother didn't over-exert himself, but on the whole he was conscientious. Above all, he was courteous, considerate, meticulously fair and gentlemanly.

"Bobby" doesn't bother with amenities. He largely ignores them—either because he does not consider them necessary or because he doesn't care what his colleagues think of him.

That's why his brother was widely and warmly liked by fellow senators, and "Bobby" definitely is not. As one veteran senator aptly expressed it: "Jack was of the Senate. 'Bobby' is in it, but not of it."

HEADLINE GRABBER—What this oldtimer meant is graphically illustrated by the following backstage incident:

With much ado in the press about the growing use of LSD by students, Senator Thomas Dodd, D-Conn., head of the Juvenile Delinquency Subcommittee, decided to look into the problem. He directed his staff to make a preliminary study prior to holding public hearings.

In the midst of that, they got wind that "Bobby," chairman of a Government Operations Subcommittee, was planning to take a publicity flyer in the same field and was preparing to hold hearings before Dodd.

The affair had all the earmarks of a bald headline grab.

But it didn't turn out that way. Moving fast, Dodd summoned Dr. Timothy Leary, LSD limelighter, as a witness, staged a hearing—and beat "Bobby" to the headlines, much to the delight of his outraged colleagues. They literally reveled in his discomfiture.

THEY WERE particularly indignant at "Bobby" because Dodd is sorely in need of a good press break. As he's in difficulty over campaign fund contributions, his colleagues envisioned the LSD probe as his chance to focus himself in a favorable light. So they were irate when "Bobby" proposed to horn in and grab off the kudos. When Dodd outmaneuvered him, they privately cheered.

Said one leading Democrat, "This ought to teach 'Bobby' a lesson, but I doubt that it will. In the year and a half he has been in the Senate he has given no evidence of being interested in learning how to get along with others. That came naturally to his brother. But 'Bobby' seems utterly devoid of either the instinct or desire."

STALLED BY A JUNKET—Talk of Congress winding up by Labor Day is increasingly hollow sounding.

The way things are transpiring on Capitol Hill, the country will be lucky if the lawmakers call it quits before the November election. Following is a graphic illustration of one reason for this:

Two of President Johnson's high-priority Great Society measures are at a complete standstill because the chairman of the committee responsible for them is reveling in a government-paid junket in Geneva, with no likelihood of his returning before the long July 4 recess.

Space Flight Perils Under Consideration

ASTRONAUTS Eugene Cernan and Thomas Stafford are down safely—for which we can all breathe a small prayer. But it was touch-and-go for a while in a space exercise marked by too many mishaps for comfort. No one can blame the scientists and engineers who prepared the two space capsules for the Gemini 9 launches. They did all that was humanly possible to build in complete safety.

But that, precisely, is what worries space experts in Washington. In dealing with the vastly intricate equipment that makes up the capsules and their earthbound controls, only the humanly possible can be accomplished. Any one of a thousand delicate mechanisms can go wrong in the thrust and roar of launch, as well as in the supersonic pressure of flight.

The wonder, to those who have any solid idea of what is involved in these adventures, is that tragedy has not struck so far. These are grim thoughts, and they are softened by the realization that only American know-how and efficiency have given us the great record chalked up by our astronauts. The Soviets, though they would deny it with their last breath, have lost a number of their cosmonauts, though what the precise figure may be only our top Intelligence officials can say, and they are bound to silence by a policy of NASA (National Aeronautics and Space Agency) which enforces the suppression of such data.

NASA, IN FACT, is so afraid that Americans may learn of Soviet failures that it has entered the censorship business. The agency became so upset over the researches of a leading writer on space matters that it asked the two principal wire services not to mention him any more because he was "discredited."

Behind this incredible interference with the free dissemination of vital information lurks NASA's fear that Congressional awareness of America's great lead in space may result in a reduction of its astronomical budget. But there is also concern over public reaction to the dangers of space flight. This, too, could encourage a move for reducing expenditures. There are already some in both House and Senate who wonder why we are spending billions to get to the moon first.

As the day for manned flight the moon approaches, the hazards of each succeeding experiment increase. The Gemini 9 episode is merely highlighted what was previously played down. The next launch will not be as devil-may-care. For NASA must operate within a democratic society. It cannot lose lives with impunity, as the Soviets have done. And it must justify every new step in its exploration of other planets.

Fear over the safety of the next team may have the effect of forcing Congress to re-evaluate our entire space program. Military experts, and they include some of our best officers, have long argued that with the present American know-how the lower reaches of space could be used for unmanned platforms and ships deployed to contribute to the national defense.

THE GREATER part of the Soviet space program has long since been converted to this end. The Kremlin understands that having nuclear outposts in the lower reaches of space can make up for the Soviet Union's secondary military posture. If the Communists can eliminate the bugs in systems on which they are today working, then the Cuban missile threat will seem like child's play.

Much would have been accomplished in this field by American scientists had not Defense Secretary Robert Strange McNamara—after consultation with his "whiz kid" advisers and their computers—decided against it. This leaves him batting 0-000 when it comes to developing new weapons systems and getting the most value out of old ones.

To develop a military space science would cost less in money and risk no lives. It would give the United States its biggest advance in defense since the invention of the nuclear bomb. But Mr. McNamara and the deep thinkers of the State Department who always agree with him continue to insist that only by becoming increasingly weak shall we achieve real strength. The logic escapes me, but this may be due to my absence from the rarefied atmosphere of the Pentagon.

It may take a space disaster to arouse public opinion. Meanwhile, the astronauts, with incredible courage and stamina, will probe the far reaches of space, while Soviet scientists work night and day for militarized space platforms controlled by the Kremlin.

Reagan Victory Will Boost Conservatism

RONALD REAGAN'S impressive victory on Tuesday for the Republican nomination for California governor, I believe, will turn out to be the first major step in the greatest conservative surge this country has ever seen.

It spells the beginning of the end of the arch-liberal Establishment which is determined to turn the American republic into a collectivist society. Americans have had all the liberalism they can take. The California primary offered one of the first major opportunities to show their feelings at the polls.

Most people can remember what the liberals said in 1964 about the nation's problems. On the big one, Viet Nam, they were completely wrong. President Johnson has been literally forced to follow the GOP recommendations of 1964, but he got around to them too late to do much good in the "limited" fashion he insisted upon.

The liberal approach to NATO was to do nothing until Charles de Gaulle pulled the rug out from under them. Conservative, moderate and liberal Republicans have been warning about the Atlantic Alliance for more than two years. In 1964 we offered specific steps to come to grips with the situation while there was still time.

HOW RIGHT WERE Reagan and the entire GOP when we pledged a heavy reduction in government spending to head off inflation. But the Democrats, with the help of a few out-of-step Republicans, went in for a huge social welfare program which, big as it was, could not come close to making up to the poverty-stricken and the elderly living on fixed incomes the loss they suffered from the skyrocketing prices of inflation.

The Democrats are in real trouble. They have overspent, overpromised, overestimated in every government category. The result is utter confusion on the economic front and a condition bordering on chaos in the fields of health, education and welfare.

I regard the Reagan victory as indicative of things to come. The way he won over George Christopher will assure him a resounding victory over Democratic Gov. Pat Brown in November, presaging a nationwide GOP victory of major proportions in the congressional elections this year.

Ronnie has been described in the public print as a "Goldwater man" and as a "conservative trying to shed the association with Goldwater." Reagan is nobody's man but his own. A politician who runs on principles, as Reagan and I did, can't be anybody's man. He is firmly committed to fundamentals he believes are proven and good; not for some particular voting group, but for the entire nation.

IF REAGAN FELT it a profitable tactic to move away from Goldwater—assuming his move was to a position he believed in—it was wise. I'm sure everyone will realize, after what he did for me in 1964, I could never hear him an ill will. All I know is, he was billed as a conservative, and he won.

Regardless of how he conducted his campaign, his victory is one more justification of the positions we took in 1964. It may still be a "bad dream" to some GOP liberals, but if our advice had been followed on Viet Nam, NATO, inflation, the draft, crime in the streets and adequate weapons for Viet Nam, this country would be in better shape than it is under that rapidly fading "consensus."

Our crime in 1964 was losing, not in advancing an honest program to fit America's needs. The tiny minority of Republican spokesmen who keep harking back to 1964 obviously are proponents of the game of "political expediency." If they were not, they'd reread the 1964 Republican Platform and my 1964 speeches to see how they apply to every major problem confronting us today.

Reagan did not commit my crime. He won, and he's going to keep on winning because he's right. The people are beginning to wake up to what's right and wrong in U.S. policies.

When Republicans score congressional victories this fall it won't be because John Lindsay was elected New York mayor or because the GOP put up "me-too" candidates or because the party leap-frogged the Democrats and promised more federal spending. It will be because we were right in 1964 and the people are only now beginning to understand.

Are Housewives Silly?

In pushing its onerous fight for so-called "truth in packaging," the national administration is assuming one of the most ridiculous positions on record. It virtually says that housewives are silly and that they don't know whether or not they are being cheated in buying food.

To counter that absurd claim, we make the assertion, without equivocation, that it is our belief that if the government used even one-half as much sense in making its purchases as does the housewife, it would be possible to cut withholding taxes by more than 25 per cent without losing anything in efficiency.

The government again makes itself ridiculous when it contends that if a package containing a cereal is a little bigger than is absolutely necessary for its contents, the manufacturer is engaged in deceptive packaging. As a matter of fact, it is much easier to get the food out of package that is a little bigger than is necessary. And who cares, when he buys a package of corn flakes, whether the container could hold a few ounces more or is jam-packed. If there is a pound or a half-pound in each of the packages, the customer is actually getting a little more for his money in the bigger package than in the smaller one. And no one is fooled as to the amount in the package, since the weight of the contents is given.

If the Johnson administration has its way, the federal government will go into the business of checking whether boxes of cold cereal are filled to the brim and whether "super-sized cartons of soap powder are really "super." And it will spend a lot of our tax money doing that checking.

This is petty legislation and sillier than the government assumes housewives to be.

As usual, the government is much more intent on getting the "mote" out of someone else's eye than in getting the "beam" out of its own eye.

The proposed legislation is not only absurd but irritating because the Johnson administration is so contemptuous of truth when packaging information for the American people. This was demonstrated when an official spokesman for the administration once said: "The federal government has an inherent right to lie" to the people. Wherein does the right of the government exceed the right of the people in a democracy in which the people are supposed to be the ones who do the governing?

A "truth in packaging," law would be a fine thing if it applied to statements by government spokesmen. United States Representative Durwood G. Hall, R., Mo., made precisely this proposal in a recent speech before the Southern States Industrial Council. He asserted that any "truth in packaging" legislation should apply to statements made by federal officials, citing the statement by Assistant Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester, that "the federal government has an inherent right to lie."

In issuing some of their statements, many Washington officials certainly must do so with their fingers crossed if they have any regard whatever for telling the truth. All too frequently, these statements simply cannot be believed by the people. And this isn't anything like a box of ginger snaps that could hold a couple more cookies if they were jammed into it.

Buyers of the administration's legislative packages are losing much more than a few pennies. They are losing their liberties. Supposedly, the Medicare program was to be strictly a humanitarian program. That was the way the package was sold to the public and, undoubtedly, to some members of Congress. But Medicare is being used as a huge, cruel club to force hospitals to operate in ways they believe bad for their patients and for medical care in general. Unless a hospital submits to all orders of federal inspectors, it won't be given funds to make the treatment of Medicare patients possible. If the hospital refuses to submit to these indignities, the government attempts to give it a black name by claiming it won't cooperate in treating those who are poor or aged. Thus, the medicare program is used as another club.

As Thurman Sensing, Southern news analyst, pointed out, in considering "truth in packaging," one should begin with the label "The Great Society." If federal officials can inquire into whether a box of soap flakes is truly "super," the public should have the right to inquire whether "The Great Society" is truly "great." Would a really great society build up vast debts to unload on the next generation of Americans? Would a great society deny to a homeowner his right to rent or sell to whom he pleases? Would a great society use tricky methods of tax collection to confuse the public into believing the deficit is not as large as it is? The Johnson "Great Society" is doing all these things.

If "truth in packaging" applied to the Johnson administration, there would have to be tremendous reforms. Consider the so-called "civil rights" legislation. If truth were a requirement, the White House would be compelled to admit that the real goal of the "civil rights" bill is to pack the voter rolls with new voters, irrespective of their lack of ability to understand and judge public issues.

If there were "truth in packaging" legislation covering government activities, the Great Society would have to report poor accounting procedures and waste of public funds. The bureaucrats would have to disclose the exact cost of training someone in the Job Corps.

If there were "truth in packaging" for government, the administration would have to reveal that its real aim in cracking down on anti-communist Rhodesia was to get votes in the Harlems of the nation. It also would have to confess that the Executive Branch usurped the right of Congress by taking economic action against Rhodesia.

"Truth in packaging" also would reveal why the administration wants a tax increase when billions of dollars in welfare statist programs could be eliminated.

It will be a mighty cold day in August, however, when the Great Society approves "truth in packaging" as applied to itself. If truth were the standard, the Great Society would be out of business.

Even in presenting its arguments for "truth in packaging," the federal government is being more deceptive than the old-time horse-trader who would trade a bone-spavined, 15-year-old nag for a fine, young horse if he could hypnotize his victim into accepting such a trade.

When the truth is told, the "truth in packaging" program is another tentacle of the giant government octopus which is strangling the life out of free enterprise in the United States.

The Other Roosevelt

Theodore Roosevelt once said: "The things that will destroy America are peace at any price, prosperity at any price, safety first instead of duty first, love of soft living and the get-rich-quick theory of life."

This was the first President Roosevelt of the United States, not the one who was to become the granddaddy of socialism, forced integration, Medicare and rule by the "autocracy," namely the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

We doubt if any wiser or truer words were ever spoken than those uttered by President Theodore Roosevelt, who was a Republican.

Just think what a difference it would have made to this country if we could have had two Presidents Theodore Roosevelts, instead of one Theodore and one Franklin.

Kennedy Trip Seen As Stunt South Africa Junket Doesn't Boost Chances

WHATEVER political capital "Bobby" Kennedy hopes to garner from his grandstanding junket to South Africa, he can forget it as far as most of his Senate colleagues are concerned.

Among them, his trip is derisively viewed as another publicity stunt in his furious pursuit of the presidency.

This sardonic attitude is in keeping with the underlying dislike, distrust and disapproval of him that is widespread among "Bobby's" colleagues. With the exception of a small coterie of eager newcomers who flutter about him like moths around a flame, he rates far down the Senate list in popularity and esteem.

The feeling is general among both Democrats and Republicans that he is high-handed, ruthless, power-grabbing and consumed by an inordinate White House ambition; that everything he says and does is motivated by this dominating passion.

IN CHATS AMONG themselves and guarded comments to others, the lawmakers disparagingly compare "Bobby" with his late brother.

The former President genuinely liked the Senate. To "Bobby" it is primarily a stepping stone, a means to an end, colleagues believe. As a legislator, his brother didn't over-exert himself, but on the whole he was conscientious. Above all,

he was courteous, considerate, meticulously fair and gentlemanly.

Statement On Medicare In Area Cited

JONESBORO (Special) — The Jackson Parish Hospital here has recently been approved as fully qualified for participation in the Health Insurance for the Aged, better known as Medicare, according to Hospital Administrator Thomas R. Hightower.

Persons 65 or over, who are eligible for this program, comprise approximately 11 per cent of the total population of Jackson Parish. "Since such a large number of people in Jackson Parish are eligible for Medicare, we felt it would be morally wrong not to qualify, thereby depriving people of these benefits," said Hightower.

But in order to participate, the hospital must comply with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 which means that any policy of separation, discrimination or any other distinction on the basis of race, color or national origin must end. Therefore, hospital officials have effected a policy of non-discrimination. This is necessary for any program or activity receiving Federal funds, either directly or indirectly, as in the case of hospitals, whose patients may have their bills paid by the government.

The conditions given in Title VI apply to all hospitals regardless of ownership, Hightower stated. The Jackson Parish Hospital is community-owned, that is, by citizens of Jackson Parish.

"The staff of the Jackson Parish Hospital appreciates these citizens and asks for the continued support of the public it serves," Hightower said.

Bank Here Adds New Department

Ben R. Baker has been elected vice president of the newly created Agri-Business Department of Central Bank, Conway Crossland, president, announced today.

Crossland explained that in his new position, Baker will be available to assist area farmers, ranchers, planters and businessmen. "We at Central Bank recognize the importance of agribusiness to the area economy and are pleased to be taking this progressive step in providing area businessmen with a highly qualified banker who understands the farmers' and businessmen's problems."

French Honor U.S. Soldiers In 2 Wars

SURESNES, France (UPI) — A French diplomat expressed his country's gratefulness to the United States Friday despite their current differences over NATO in a ceremony honoring all American soldiers who died for France in two world wars.

Jean-Georges Jorgenson, minister plenipotentiary at the French foreign office, spoke at a ceremony at the American military cemetery here.

Almost 2,000 Frenchmen and women, some of the men bemedalled war veterans, attended the sun-drenched ceremony.

Specially honored was Sgt. Lawrence F. Kelly of Altoona, Pa., the first American to die in the liberation of Paris in 1944. Kelly was honored as a symbol of the 85,000 U.S. servicemen who died in France in World Wars I and II.

"Without the United States France would not exist today," Jorgenson said at the ceremony. He pledged that France would be at the side of the United States if its aid was ever needed.

Scores of memorial wreaths were sent to the ceremony by individuals and veteran's groups from all over France. Aided by recent publicity, the ceremony was the biggest in its 20 year history.

A decision by the French armed forces ministry not to permit the ceremony to be held at the Invalides, France's greatest national military shrine, brought criticism raining on the French government.

The government insisted the ban was not aimed at the "Kelly Memorial Committee," which sponsors the observance, or at the United States.

Integrated Activity Okayed By Board

WINNSBORO (Special) — A resolution approved by the Franklin Parish School Board at its Friday morning meeting will permit Franklin Parish students to participate in integrated school activity. The resolution reverses the decision made by the school board last year. The resolution states that the activities must be outside Franklin Parish and that the student must have the approval of his parents.

Voting on the resolution was close, with six of 11 board members voting for the resolution. Those voting for the resolution were W. B. Scriber, H. B. Wiggers, R. F. Kincaid, Guy McLain, R. R. Marshall and Rufus Ezell. Board members voting against integrated activities were S. L. Chumbley, George Scoggin, Leonard Jones, Otis Hassell and J. C. Horne.

In other school board activity, Elizabeth Landis, parish music supervisor, announced her retirement, effective July 1. Miss Landis has been the music supervisor for 30 years. The board accepted the retirement and passed a resolution of appreciation for a job well done.

The retirement of Horace G. White, Negro, principal of Franklin Parish Training School for the past 34 years, was accepted, effective June 1, and the board expressed its appreciation for a job well done.

Shelton Blunt, commerce teacher at Waverly High School, was employed to replace White as principal of Franklin Parish training school. Blunt received his B.S. and Master of Education degrees from Southern University and has been a teacher for 10 years.

New teachers employed in Franklin Parish were Vernon Stevenson and Charlene Morace, Central High School; Larry Stanley, band director, Winnsboro High School; Martha June Holtzclaw, Ward 3 Junior High School; Mrs. Gratchel T. Boothe and Mrs. Villa W. Guice, Winnsboro Junior High School, Joyce Tisdale, Wisner High School.

Resignations accepted were Manson Nelson, assistant coach, Winnsboro High School; Mrs. Ada Nelson, Crowville High School, and Mrs. Jessie Felder, Winnsboro Junior High School.

Ernest Baccarini was transferred from Ward 3 Junior High School to Winnsboro Junior High School, and Mrs. Florence Parker was transferred from Central High School to Crowville High School.

The retirement of busdriver T. H. Walters of Gilbert High School was accepted and his son, Robert H. Walters, was employed on the route.

An emergency was declared and the school board approved the air conditioning of Baskin Elementary School, with individual units in each room. The cost is to be paid from the 2½ mill fund of Ward 6.

The school board passed a resolution favoring the one-cent sales tax for the Fifth District. The board also passed a resolution requesting Sen. J. C. (Sonny) Gilbert and Rep. Lantz Womack to locate the proposed area junior college in Franklin Parish.

Former Area Man Dies After Wreck

BASTROP (Special) — Larry Bain Freeland, 32, a former resident of Bastrop who resided in Dallas, Tex., died Thursday following an automobile accident near Dallas.

Freeland was a salesman for a paper company.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday at the First Methodist Church of Spring Hill.

Burial will be at 2 p.m. Saturday in Morehouse Memorial Park Cemetery in Bastrop under the direction of Blackwell and Golden Funeral Home.

Survivors include his widow and a three-year-old daughter, both of Dallas, and his mother, Mrs. Abby Naff Freeland of Bastrop.

Alligator Skin Traffic Blasted

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — In an effort to restock and repopulate the species, undercover agents from the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission are cracking down on illegal traffic in alligator skins.

J. D. Hair Jr., commission director, said Thursday that agents arrested Ralph Sagrera, a fur dealer at Abbeville, and seized 1,080 alligator skins valued at $30,000 to $50,000.

He was charged with illegal possession of alligator skins.

Alligator season has been closed since April 27, 1965, Hair said, in an effort to give the animals a chance to repopulate.

"With the tremendous demand for alligator skins from Louisiana in the leather goods trade, poaching and illegal hunting, must be stopped," Hair said. "We are going to make every effort to stamp out the illegal taking of alligators and restore a valuable segment of Louisiana's over-all economy."

Erhard Says Germans To Support U.S. Richland Teacher Succumbs

BONN (UPI) — Chancellor Ludwig Erhard said Friday West Germany will continue to give the United States moral and humanitarian support in Vietnam.

He added, however, that no German troops will be sent to help the American war effort in Southeast Asia.

"If there is any country that must support the United States in its stand in Viet Nam, then it is Germany because the United States in Viet Nam is defending the principle of freedom," Erhard told a news conference.

"But we will not accept any military or pseudo-military engagement of any kind," he said.

Erhard said he was assured by the U.S. Secretary of State that the United States "considers the presence of American troops in Europe, and particularly Germany, as an obligation and a task that is independent from other factors such as Viet Nam."

He disclosed that a letter from him was delivered to French President Charles de Gaulle Friday and he indicated the note reiterated West Germany's previous position that the stationing of 70,000 French troops on German soil was essential to peace in Europe.

Erhard maintained that the French troops should remain in Germany despite De Gaulle's decision to pull out of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) on July 1.

Touching on other topics in his second news conference of the year, Erhard said he planned to visit Washington either late in July or August for talks with President Johnson and that he was interested in direct talks with Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin.

Man Arrested On Theft Count

Sheriff's officials arrested Lorenzo Donahue Jr., 19, Friday in connection with the theft of eight bicycles.

Officials said Donahue admitted the theft of one, and identification on another was made as to its being stolen. The bikes dismantled.

The other six bikes, still being checked out, were also found near his residence at Tony Bayou Rd., West Monroe.

Driving while intoxicated charges were placed by Mon. police against Benny Zeigler, 25, Eros, and M. J. Brown, 21, Hope St., Monroe, over the same period last year.

364 Cubans To Land In Private Boats

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — A Mexican Olympic Committee official said Friday night 364 Cubans will land here in private barges Saturday morning to take part in the 10th Central American and Caribbean games.

The delegation arrived off San Juan aboard the Cuban freighter Cerro Pelado but the U.S. government refused to let it dock, saying the Cubans must travel to Puerto Rico via regularly scheduled commercial transportation.

Later, the State Department relaxed its order somewhat and offered to let the Cubans come ashore by barge. The U.S. Coast Guard offered to ferry in 50 of them.

Gen. Jose Clark Flores, head of the Mexican Olympic Committee, said the Cuban organizers decided it would be better to land in boats supplied by the Puerto Rico committee managing the games.

Kennedy Has Secret Talks

DAR ES-SALAAM, Tanzania (UPI) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., met with President Julius K. Nyerere Friday but maintained a discreet silence on the details of the talks. Tanzania has been a focal point of Communist Chinese influence in east Africa.

After the meeting Nyerere said Tanzania's relations with the United States will improve when the Americans realize his country is non-aligned, neither anti-Western nor pro-Eastern. But he too gave no details of his talks with the New York Senator.

In Johannesburg, the influential newspaper Die Transvaler, which usually reflects official government opinion, dropped a strong hint that Kennedy will not be allowed back in South Africa. Before leaving Thursday, Kennedy promised to return to the white-ruled country next year.

The newspaper said that if the South African foundation has invited Kennedy back in 1967 then the foundation "should be dissolved."

"A single American circus display on South African soil as more than enough," the paper said. "We definitely don't want a second."

The icy official reception given Kennedy during his visit to South Africa contrasted sharply to the thunderous greeting he received in Tanzania Thursday night upon his arrival on the second leg of his private African tour.

Speaking at a news conference shortly after meeting Kennedy, Nyerere—known to his people as "the mwalimu" (teacher) — said the United States must accept the fact of African independence.

33 through July 8; speech improvement for the mentally retarded June 13 through July 8 and marriage and family counseling June 13 through July 24.

Other workshops and institutes start later during the summer session.

Baker, a native of Rapides parish, came to Monroe from Shreveport, where he served with the First National Bank, with primary responsibility servicing farm loans, cotton production loans, dairy loans, beef cattle loans and loans to various agri-business firms.

He obtained his BS degree from LSU in Animal Industry, with a minor in agricultural economics. He first worked with the Rapides Bank and Trust Co. in Alexandria. He went with the First National in Shreveport in 1952.

Baker has been an active member of the Agriculture Committee of Shreveport Chamber of Commerce and served as its chairman in 1960. He has been active in the Caddo-Bossier Cattlemen's Association and the Farm Bureau, and was a member of the steering committee of the Louisiana Cotton Contact Committee.

Baker and his wife, Mary Ann, have two sons, Bill a sophomore at Texas A&M; and Jimmy, a sophomore at Fair Park High School. They are members of the Broadacres Baptist Church in Shreveport.

Baker served 34 months combat duty in the Pacific area during World War II.

His father, Ben W. Baker, served as associate county agent in Rapides Parish for 32 years and is presently vice president in charge of the Livestock Loan Department, Guaranty Bank and Trust Company, Alexandria.

If you have a question you want answered, write or call "Mr. Editor, Tell Me Please" at the Morning World and News-Star. We'll be glad to get the information and pass it on to you each Saturday in this column.

Can any person inspect arrest books, regardless of whether the person has a "personal" or direct interest or not? Is there any restriction on this checking of the arrest book?

Briefly, the answer to the question, in the opinion of the Louisiana Attorney General's Office, is that any person has the right to inspect arrest books, whether or not he has a personal interest therein. The applicable law, R. S. 15:77, provides that the arrest book "shall always be kept open for inspection of the public, and the officer in charge shall furnish without cost a certified copy of the entry thereon to any person desiring such a copy." The statute, the legal officer says, applies to police stations, as well as to the sheriff's office. An opinion by Atty. Gen. Jack P. F. Gremillion, however, does make a distinction between persons actually arrested and those being sought. In the latter case, indictments and other information filed, in effect, need not be made public until the person sought is arrested. "In many cases, the offender would be inclined to flee from justice if he had knowledge of the fact that a formal charge had been preferred against him," Gremillion said.

The latest opinion affirming the above was given last month by Asst. Atty. Gen. William P. Shuler to Sheriff A. J. Cronvich of Jefferson Parish.

What is the most valuable crop of the United States? Cotton is called "King", but is it?

The National Agriculture, official publication of the American Farm Bureau Federation, in its April issue, said cotton was the most valuable crop in 1965. The crop that year was valued at $4.5 billion. Hay was second, and cotton, soybeans and wheat followed in that order. Cotton is, or has been, considered king in the South.

I have heard oldsters, particularly my mother, talk of the "St. Andrews Cross" which is some sort of plant, I believe. Can you tell me what this is?

Clair A. Brown's "Louisiana Trees and Shrubs" reports the St. Andrews Cross is the Ascyrum hypericoides, a low, many branched shrub widely distributed in Louisiana. The flowers are yellow with four petals in a cross arrangement, blooming from June into September.

Who played the leads in the motion picture, "The Moon is Blue" about 10 years ago?

William Holden and Audrey Hepburn.

How far out into a lake can a property owner extend a fence and put up posted signs. In particular, I am referring to several in Cheniere Lake near West Monroe.

The property owner can post all property which he has in his possession, whether it is on the lake or not. Cheniere Lake is owned by the people of Ouachita parish and this would require checking into the legal terms of the property. If there is any doubt, the owner should contact his attorney to determine the exact lines.

What is the Devil's Walking Stick?

This is the common name applied to a tall shrub widely distributed in Louisiana. "Louisiana Trees and Shrubs", written by Clair A. Brown, professor of botany at Louisiana State University, says the plant, botanically known as the Aralia spinosa of the Genseng family, is occasionally planted as an ornamental because of the tropical effect of the tall, spiny stems with an umbrella of leaves. It is also known as Hercules' Club.

Is a practical nursing course offered at the St. Francis Hospital in Monroe or Glenwood Hospital in West Monroe? If so, what does one do in going about to take training there?

The course is offered by the Ouachita Valley Vocational Technical School in West Monroe and operates in conjunction with the hospital particularly St. Francis. The nurse cadets get their practical training at the St. Francis. Persons interested should contact the vocational school, S. W. Jackson, director. They can get the needed information from either Mr. Jackson or a member of the school staff.

If two persons are registered as owners of a Savings Bond, and one of them dies, what effect does this have upon the bond? Can it be cashed?

A savings Bond registered in co - owner form, one or more owners, becomes the sole and absolute property of the surviving co - owner in the event of the death of the others, according to the U.S. Treasury Department.

What is the difference, if any, between a "pacer" and a "trotter" horse in racing? I have heard my father correct others that a certain racing animal "was a pacer not a trotter" and vice versa?

The Encyclopedia of Sports, edited by Frank G. Menke, in his section on "harness horse racing" defines them as such: "Harness horse racing involves horses with two gait: (1) the pacer, who moves by thrusting out the right front and right rear legs at the same time, then the two legs on the other side; (2) the trotter, who locomotes by using the right fore leg and the rear left leg at the same time, then the left front and the rear right." That is the best definition we could find.

How and when did "Ducks Unlimited" come into existence?

"Ducks Unlimited" is an international non-profit conservation organization dedicated to the preservation of the continental waterfowl. It was organized in 1938 at a time when wildlife authorities were becoming alarmed over the dangerous shrinkage of the waterfowl population. It is sponsored and financed by the sportsmen of the United States.

What are the migratory bird flyways?

Wildfowl travel from the north to the South as winter approaches and then back again with the first signs of spring. In the United States these birds use four favored routes, known as flyways. These are: (1) the Atlantic Flyway, covering the states of Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia and Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia; (2) Mississippi Flyway, covering the states of Alabama, Arkansas, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Mississippi, Ohio, Tennessee and Wisconsin; (3) Central Flyway, including Colorado, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Texas and Wyoming; and (4) Pacific Flyway, using the states of Arizona, California, Idaho, Nevada, Oregon, Utah, Washington and Alaska.

Could you tell me if George Hamilton — the one that played in "Your Cheat-Heart", related to George Hamilton the fourth?

George Hamilton the actor is the fifth George Hamilton in a Memphis, Tenn., family but as far as public knowledge goes is not related to George Hamilton IV, the singer. Hamilton, the actor, was born in 1939. This may give some clue. Hamilton, the actor, lives in the former home of actor Douglas Fairbanks (37 rooms).

If you have a question you want answered, write or call "Mr. Editor, Tell Me Please" at the Morning World and News-Star. We'll be glad to get the information and pass it on to you each Saturday in this column.

Can any person inspect arrest books, regardless of whether the person has a "personal" or direct interest or not? Is there any restriction on this checking of the arrest book?

Briefly, the answer to the question, in the opinion of the Louisiana Attorney General's Office, is that any person has the right to inspect arrest books, whether or not he has a personal interest therein. The applicable law, R. S. 15:77, provides that the arrest book "shall always be kept open for inspection of the public, and the officer in charge shall furnish without cost a certified copy of the entry thereon to any person desiring such a copy." The statute, the legal officer says, applies to police stations, as well as to the sheriff's office. An opinion by Atty. Gen. Jack P. F. Gremillion, however, does make a distinction between persons actually arrested and those being sought. In the latter case, indictments and other information filed, in effect, need not be made public until the person sought is arrested. "In many cases, the offender would be inclined to flee from justice if he had knowledge of the fact that a formal charge had been preferred against him," Gremillion said.

The latest opinion affirming the above was given last month by Asst. Atty. Gen. William P. Shuler to Sheriff A. J. Cronvich of Jefferson Parish.

What is the most valuable crop of the United States? Cotton is called "King", but is it?

The Nation's Agriculture, official publication of the American Farm Bureau Federation, in its April issue, said corn was the most valuable crop in 1965. The corn crop that year was valued at $4.5 billion. Hay was second, and cotton, soybeans and wheat followed in that order. Cotton is, or has been, considered king in the South.

I have heard oldsters, particularly my mother, talk of the "St. Andrews' Cross" which is some sort of plant. I believe. Can you tell me what this is?

Clair A. Brown's "Louisiana Trees and Shrubs" reports the St. Andrews' Cross is the Ascyrum hypericoides, a low, many branched shrub widely distributed in Louisiana. The flowers are yellow with four petals in a cross arrangement, blooming from June into September.

Who played the leads in the motion picture, "The Moon is Blue" about 10 years ago? William Holden and Audrey Hepburn.

How far out into a lake can a property owner extend a fence and put up posted signs. In particular, I am referring to several in Cheniere Lake near West Monroe.

The property owner can post all property which he has in his possession, whether it is on the lake or not. Cheniere Lake is owned by the people of Ouachita parish and this would require checking into the legal terms of the property. If there is any doubt, the owner should contact his attorney to determine the exact lines.

What is the Devil's Walking Stick?

This is the common name applied to a tall shrub widely distributed in Louisiana. "Louisiana Trees and Shrubs", written by Clair A. Brown, professor of botany at Louisiana State University, says the plant, botanically known as the Aralia spinosa of the Genseng family, is occasionally planted as an ornamental because of the tropical effect of the tall, spiny stems with an umbrella of leaves. It is also known as Hercules' Club.

Is a practical nursing course offered at the St. Francis Hospital in Monroe or Glenwood Hospital in West Monroe? If so, what does one do in going about to take training there?

The course is offered by the Ouachita Valley Vocational Technical School in West Monroe and operates in conjunction with the hospital particularly St. Francis. The nurse cadets get their practical training at the St. Francis. Persons interested should contact the vocational school, S. W. Jackson, director. They can get the needed information from either Mr. Jackson or a member of the school staff.

If two persons are registered as owners of a Savings Bond, and one of them die, what effect does this have upon the bond? Can it be cashed?

A savings Bond registered in co-owner form, one or more owners, becomes the sole and absolute property of the surviving co-owner in the event of the death of the others, according to the U.S. Treasury Department.

What is the difference, if any, between a "pacer" and a "trotter" horse in racing? I have heard my father correct others that a certain racing animal "was a pacer know about — or doesn't know about?

Monroe officials explain the indemnity agreement is a matter of protection for the city against any damages that might be incurred by the publication or other dissemination of the information which it releases or supplies to an individual. In effect, the agreement places the full responsibility for the use of the information supplied from public records on the individual to whom it is supplied. The city, therefore, would not be party or accessory to any suits that might develop through the use of the material.

Ruby Sanity Trial Will Begin Monday

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Ruby's sanity trial is scheduled to begin Monday, but his lawyers say they will present no witnesses and no evidence to support their earlier contention that he is insane.

Texas Dist. Judge Louis T. Holland turned down Friday defense motions that would have forestalled the sanity hearing for the convicted slayer of Lee Harvey Oswald.

He then ordered that selection of a jury start Monday after overruling defense arguments that Ruby's constitutional rights would be violated if they presented at a sanity hearing witnesses who might be called in a murder trial is granted.

Holland said he would recognize both Phil Burleson of Dallas and Joe Tonahill of Jasper, along with several other attorneys, as Ruby's counsel.

Burleson and Tonahill have been at odds over defense procedure in the case but said they were in agreement in opposition to the sanity hearing.

Both said they would not call Ruby, 55, as a witness nor would they present witnesses or evidence at the sanity trial.

Ruby, a former night club operator, did not appear. He has been in the Dallas County since the November 1963 shooting of Oswald, who was named by the Warren Commission as the assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

The district court is under orders of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals to hold the sanity hearing before the appeal court reviews the death sentence assessed Ruby in early 1964.

At Friday's hearing the defense sought the judge's approval of a petition to withdraw an affidavit filed in 1964 by Eva Grant, Ruby's sister, in which she contended her brother was insane.

Ruby's lawyers said the appeals court ordered the sanity hearing because of Mrs. Grant's affidavit. After Judge Holland denied the petition, the defense asked that the application for withdrawal be certified to criminal appeals court and allow it to decide whether a sanity hearing should still be heard.

In appealing Ruby's conviction, the defense contended numerous reversible errors were committed and that the conviction should be set aside.

One of Ruby's lawyers told the court that dissension between defense attorneys also would violate Ruby's constitutional rights if a sanity hearing is held. He said differences between Tonahill and lawyers now representing Ruby had not been reconciled.

Tonahill, one of the more than a dozen lawyers representing Ruby at various times, was in court and argued for approval of the defense motion.

The defense told the court it was not ready and would not be ready for the Monday hearing.

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade and his assistant, Bill Alexander, said the state had not requested the sanity hearing, but was ready to present its evidence contending that the convicted slayer is sane.

Holland, in denying the defense request for withdrawal of the insanity affidavit at the morning session, said he was under orders from the criminal appeals court to hold the sanity hearing and failure to do so would deny Ruby his constitutional rights.

An argument that a sanity hearing would be detrimental to Ruby's health was denied by Wade, who said the convicted slayer is now in better condition than he was at the time of his arrest.

A deputy sheriff earlier told newsmen Ruby spends much of his time reading the Bible, playing dominoes and doing push-ups.

Should Ruby be found sane, the appeals court is expected to consider his appeal. If adjudged insane, he would be committed to a state hospital for the criminally insane until he should regain his mental faculties.

Agreement On Medicare Noted Here

E. A. Conway Memorial Hospital — Monroe's charity institution — has been found eligible by the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare to provide services to the older people of the Monroe area under the Medicare Program when it begins July 1.

A letter of agreement was presented Friday to Ray Rhymes, administrator of Conway, by J. Dodd Brooks, social security district manager here.

Rhymes recently announced the expansion and modernization plans for Conway.

It is anticipated that more than $2 million will be expended in expanding and updating Conway's medical facilities to meet the growing needs in Northeast Louisiana.

Public Relations Post Announced

Designation of Harold Hill, former city clerk of West Monroe, as public relations director of the Northeast Louisiana Contractors Association has been announced by J. H. Heard, association president.

Hill joined the association's staff June 1 after eight years in the municipal post.

Heard also announced that Jim Martin, who had been coordinator of the industry advancement program administered by the association, will be the association's new director of education.

Civil Service Jobs Available

John S. Daniel, examiner-in-charge of the local U. S. Civil Service office, said Friday he has applications now for jobs for persons with as little as seven years of school.

Jobs for forest workers with the U. S. Department of Agriculture in or near the national forest, research centers, and other Forest Service Installations in the states of Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and Louisiana.

Massive Stock Recovery Staged By Day's Session

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market Friday mounted its best rally in three weeks as blue chips accompanied glamor issues in a massive recovery. Trading was active.

Volume swelled to 8.33 million shares.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 9.13 to 891.75.

The pace setters of the early 1966 rise — color televisions, other electronics, airlines, aerospace stocks, office equipments, photographic issues and the like — were strong almost from the start. They moved up sharply on big blocks, reflecting purchases by big investors.

Blue chips, for a while, moved ahead raggedly on balance. Later, they too, joined in the rebound.

Control Data, the market's most active stock, rising 3/4 to 271.50 from 270.75.

Among the actively traded gainers, Xerox rose 9 1/4, Collins Radio 3, Trans World Air Lines 2 1/4, Eastern Air Lines 4 1/4, Boeing 3 1/4, SCM 3 1/4, Magnavox 2 1/4 and Raytheon 2 1/4.

Among other fast-steppers, Fairchild Camera rose 1 1/4, Northwest Airlines (new) 7 1/4, Motorola 7 1/4, Admiral 4 1/4, Texas Instruments 3 1/4, Douglas Aircraft 4 1/4, Polaroid 4 1/4 and American Airlines 3 1/4.

In the more sedate side of the market, U.S. Steel rose 2 1/4, Jones & Laughlin 1 1/4, General Motors 1 1/4, Eastman Kodak 1 1/4, International Telephone 1 1/4, New York Central 4 1/4, Pennsylvania Railroad 5 1/4, Steel 2 1/4, Goodrich 2 and Standard Oil (New Jersey) 1 1/4.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 3.6 to 321.5 with industrials up 4.8, rails up 2.7 and utilities up 1.2. It was the best rise in this average since May 18 when it gained 5.0.

The reasons for the rally were not based on any particular news item and were based generally on technical factors, one was the fact that the usual "Thursday jinx" was shaken this week. Another was that the big institutional buyers like mutual funds, noticing growing strength in recent dull sessions, decided to climb aboard at long last.

The market awaited further crop news and developments in the spot cotton situation.

Markets In Brief

CHICAGO (AP) — Demand slackened considerably in the grain futures market but selling pressure was light to moderate most of the time and prices only slightly easier.

Old crop soybeans held onto gains of a cent or so most of the time after having opened almost 3 cents higher. Dealers said there seemed to have been some speculative profit cashing for the weekend but that the offerings were absorbed by commercial accounts.

The selling of wheat was understood to have been mainly toward balancing commitments for the weekend. Traders said a Government report to be issued after the close of the market on estimated production and the expanding harvest accounted for the moderate pressure.

Wheat finished 1/4 cent a bushel lower to 1 1/4 higher, July $1.68 1/2-1/4; corn 1/4 lower to 1 1/4 higher, July $1.27; oats 1/4 to 3/4 higher, July 68 1/2-1/4; rye unchanged to 1/4 higher, July $1.20 1/4-1/2; soybeans 1/2 to 3/4 lower, July $3.16 1/2-1/4.

Prices quoted in dollars and thirty cents.

That Time Of Year

While the two pro football leagues are finally rising up to "the law of survival," and the golf pros continue on their merry $100,000 weekly march, and the major league races stay as hot as the weather it seems that sports in the Monroe area have tapered off drastically since school was out a couple of weeks ago.

And, things are going slower. But not as slow as you might think. Where team sports were the going thing during school days, the individual effort takes over in the summer.

In other words, to find the sports newsmakers now you have to go out and scratch around. It's surprising what'll turn up sometime.

FACES IN THE CROWD: Northeast State fans may have seen the GSC's 1965-66 premier sprinter, NLSC's own Ronnie Fountain, run his last race — at least as an Indian. Ronnie apparently called it quits for college last week when he pulled up stakes and headed for California with intentions of joining the Striders, a track club in Los Angeles of which John Pennel belongs.

Ronnie has another year of eligibility left at Northeast and should he change his mind and return, he can still enroll this fall and become eligible for next spring. It would certainly be nice to have his 15 points (per meet) back in 1967 — but even more just to have the opportunity of watching him perform. I, personally, rate Fountain in the "super" category for ability and guts.

By the way, Ronnie finished third in the 220 yard dash at the NAIA National Meet in South Dakota recently. He ran a 21 flat around a curve. Teammate Roger Mann entered the high hurdles but didn't place. He had trouble with a hip injury he suffered in the GSC Meet. Mann was second in the NAIA high hurdles last year to Northeast's Roger Morgan, now living in Baton Rouge. Morgan, you'll remember, suffered head injuries in Italy last summer while touring Europe with a U.S. track team. The injuries forced him to stay out of law school at LSU during this year but he is reportedly doing fine now.

SPEAKING OF INJURIES, Monroe resident Charlie Biggars — a former St. Matthew's athlete — is recuperating in a California hospital from severe body wounds received in the war in Viet Nam. I understand he is facing another operation sometime soon but is definitely on the way to a full recovery.

Here's an item that might be of interest to some coach within reading distance: "Larry Vidrine, assistant principal at Ville-Platte High School, has announced that his school is looking for an assistant coach whose primary job would be coaching football. Prospects may contact school principal Yves Soileau or head coach Max Hamlin."

Speaking of coaches, those fellows who find it hard to buy anything on "time" because it's always uncertain just how much of it they have left at that particular town, the early spring and summer months are among their busiest of the year. . . . In fact, coaches probably keep the moving van people in business.

YOU MAY HAVE NOTICED where Woodlawn's highly regarded head coach Lee Hedges resigned recently. Nothing is official yet but it appears almost a certainty that he will wind up at Louisiana Tech as an assistant football coach. Billy Wiggins, North Caddo basketball pilot, is the likely replacement for assistant Tech basketball coach Don Landry who took the head post at Nicholls State. . . . A. L. Williams has been elevated at Woodlawn and he has been talking to candidates for an assistant position. . . . and one possible choice is a Monroe coach.

Good to see Billy Pee back in town. Billy, a graduate of NLSC and well known basketball official throughout the area, taught at Galena Park out of Houston this past school year. . . . He's back holding down his summer position as director of Wossman Recreation Center and will join the staff at Lee Junior High this fall.

See where two former Northeast eagles take over prep coaching duties around here next fall. Lanny Johnson, the All-American on Northeast's 1960-61 GSC championship team, is going to Newellton and Jerry Salley, who played here a couple of years, will be at Crowville.

ALSO RAN INTO Mumford Leake, back at Northeast to do graduate work this summer. Mumford is coaching at St. Francisville with Bob Rachal, another NLSC grad who was an all-GSC baseballer here. Some of you will remember Mumford's brother Bob who played on the Northeast 1964 GSC baseball championship club as a freshman. Bob is at LSU now and was a starter (and star) for the Tigers' baseball team this spring.

Heard Randall Walker, former GSC 440 champ while at Northeast a couple of years back, is turning in his coaching to go in business with his father in Hallsville, Tex. Randall has been at Winnfield for the last two years as head track coach and assistant football pilot.

Athletics Beat California 3-2

ANAHEIM (AP) — Phil Roof walked nine batters, and two runs resulted when Norm Siebert drew passes with the bases loaded.

But Jack Aker hurled two and one-third innings of shutout relief, preserving the victory for Krause.

Larry Stahl walked, Ken Harrelson singled and both advanced on an infield out before Roof delivered his decisive single off Chance, 3-8, in the fourth inning.

A walk to Bert Campaneris, a two-base throwing error by Chance and an error by first baseman Siebert gave the A's an unearned run in third inning.

The Angels managed only four hits, three of them by Jose Cardena, but stranded runners.

Chuck Dolson and Lew Krause, the first two pitchers employed by Kansas City, walked nine batters, and two runs resulted when Norm Siebert drew passes with the bases loaded.

That Time Of Year

While the two pro football leagues are finally rising up to "the law of survival," and the golf pros continue on their merry $100,000 weekly march, and the major league races stay as hot as the weather it seems that sports in the Monroe area have tapered off drastically since school was out a couple of weeks ago.

And, things are going slower. But not as slow as you might think. Where team sports were the going thing during school days, the individual effort takes over in the summer.

In other words, to find the sports newsmakers now you have to go out and scratch around. It's surprising what'll turn up sometime.

FACES IN THE CROWD: Northeast State fans may have seen the GSC's 1965-66 premier sprinter, NLSC's own Ronnie Fountain, run his last race — at least as an Indian. Ronnie apparently called it quits for college last week when he pulled up stakes and headed for California with intentions of joining the Striders, a track club in Los Angeles of which John Pennel belongs.

Ronnie has another year of eligibility left at Northeast and should he change his mind and return, he can still enroll this fall and become eligible for next spring . . . It would certainly be nice to have his 15 points (per meet) back in 1967 — but even more just to have the opportunity of watching him perform. I, personally, rate Fountain in the "super" category for ability and guts.

By the way, Ronnie finished third in the 220 yard dash at the NAIA National Meet in South Dakota recently. He ran a 21 flat around a curve. Teammate Roger Mann entered the high hurdles but didn't place. He had trouble with a hip injury he suffered in the GSC Meet. Mann was second in the NAIA high hurdles last year to Northeast's Roger Morgan, now living in Baton Rouge. Morgan, you'll remember, suffered head injuries in Italy last summer while touring Europe with a U.S. track team. The injuries forced him to stay out of law school at LSU during this year but he is reportedly doing fine now.

SPEAKING OF INJURIES, Monroe resident Charlie Biggars — a former St. Matthew's athlete — is recuperating in a California hospital from severe body wounds received in the war in Viet Nam. I understand he is facing another operation sometime soon but is definitely on the way to a full recovery.

Here's an item that might be of interest to some coach within reading distance: "Larry Vidrine, assistant principal at Ville-Platte High School, has announced that his school is looking for an assistant coach whose primary job would be coaching football. Prospects may contact school principal Yves Soileau or head coach Max Hamlin."

Speaking of coaches, those fellows who find it hard to buy anything on "time" because it's always uncertain just how much of it they have left at that particular town, the early spring and summer months are among their busiest of the year . . . . In fact, coaches probably keep the moving van people in business.

YOU MAY HAVE NOTICED where Woodlawn's highly regarded head coach Lee Hedges resigned recently. Nothing is official yet but it appears almost a certainty that he will wind up at Louisiana Tech as an assistant football coach. Billy Wiggins, North Caddo basketball pilot, is the likely replacement for assistant Tech basketball coach Don Landry who took the head post at Nicholls State . . . A. L. Williams has been elevated at Woodlawn and he has been talking to candidates for an assistant position . . . and one possible choice is a Monroe coach.

Good to see Billy Pee back in town. Billy, a graduate of NLSC and well known basketball official throughout the area, taught at Galena Park out of Houston this past school year . . . He's back holding down his summer position as director of Wossman Recreation Center and will join the staff at Lee Junior High this fall.

See where two former Northeast cagers take over prep coaching duties around here next fall. Lanny Johnson, the All-American on Northeast's 1960-61 GSC championship team, is going to Newellton and Jerry Salley, who played here a couple of years, will be at Crowley.

ALSO RAN INTO Mumford Leake, back at Northeast to do graduate work this summer. Mumford is coaching at St. Francisville with Bob Rachal, another NLSC grad who was an all-GSC baseballer here. Some of you will remember Mumford's brother Bob who played on the Northeast 1964 GSC baseball championship club as a freshman. Bob is at LSU now and was a starter (and star) for the Tigers' baseball team this spring.

Heard Randall Walker, former GSC 440 champ while at Northeast a couple of years back, is turning in his coaching togs to go in business with his father in Hallsville, Tex. Randall has been at Winnfield for the last two years as head track coach and assistant football pilot.

HAPPY TEAMMATES gather around Cleveland pitcher Sonny Siebert after he pitched a no-hitter Friday night against the Washington Senators. Siebert told newsmen he hadn't been going well lately and was more concerned with getting the victory than pitching a no-hitter. # Ryun Betters World 880 Mark At 1:44.9

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — Jim Ryun, the incredible Kansas freshman, smashed the world half-mile record and helped the U.S. Track and Field Federation explode a ringing rebuttal to the censoring AAU in its fourth national meet Friday.

Ryun, who may be barred from the national AAU meet at New York two weeks hence, raced to a 1:44.9 clocking in one of his rare 880 starts.

That tumbled the world record of 1:45.1, set by New Zealand's Peter Snell in 1962, an amazing performance for Ryun, who last Saturday ran the mile in 3:53.7, only one-tenth of a second over Frenchman Michael Jazy's world record.

The two-day Federation meet, which started under threat of AAU reprisal as an unsanctioned meet, produced eight Federation records.

They came on a 13-event program for both men and women. Today's program of 15 finals includes the mile run in which Ryun is the stellar attraction.

Meet sponsors said that not a single dropout resulted from an ultimatum, issued by AAU President Clifford Buck Thursday night, that unless an AAU sanction was acquired all participating athletes would be ineligible for the AAU meet which serves as a qualifying test for the United States-Russian dual meet in Los Angeles in July.

Ryun's terrific world record effort in the half-mile stole the show completely, but in women's competition, 19-year-old Georgia Johnson of Houston set three meet records.

'Couldn't Believe It,' Says Freshman Ace

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — Incredible Jim Ryun, the Kansas freshman, said "I couldn't believe it" when his world record half-mile time of 1:44.9 was announced at the U.S. Track and Field Federation National meet Friday.

"I wasn't shooting for a world record and thought my first quarter of 53.1 was too slow," said Ryun after shattering the mark of 1:45.1 set by New Zealand's Peter Snell in 1962.

It was the first time that Ryun, the world's second fastest miler, ever ran an 880 trial and final in the same day.

In the 880 trial two hours before the final, Ryun loomed to a second-place finish behind Tom Von Ruden of Oklahoma State, who took the heat in 1:50.9.

Ryun said this was only the fifth time he ran in an open 880 race, although he has run the distance many times in relay efforts.

Ruston In Full Legion Control

RUSTON (Special) — T. L. James Contractors moved into the lead in the 13 team American Legion league here Friday night, downing Minden, 8 - 2 in an almost no-hitter for ace Gary Crawford.

Crawford had a no-hitter going until the seventh when the Minden batsmen tagged him for two hits and the two runs.

Ruston is now 4 - 0 in the loop and 5 - 0 overall while the loss drops Minden to 3 - 1.

Athletics Beat California 3-2

ANAHEIM (AP) — Phil Roof broke a tie with a two-run single in the fourth inning Friday night as Kansas City defeated California 3-2 and handed the Angels' Dean Chance his sixth straight loss.

Chuck Dobson and Lew Krause, the first two pitchers employed by Kansas City, walked nine batters, and two runs resulted when Norm Siebert drew passes with the bases loaded.

But Jack Aker hurled two and one-third innings of shutout relief, preserving the victory for Krause.

Larry Stahl walked, Ken Harrelson singled and both advanced on an infield out before Roof delivered his decisive single off Chance, 3-8, in the fourth inning.

A walk to Bert Campaneris, a two-base throwing error by Chance and an error by first baseman Siebert gave the A's an unearned run in third inning.

The Angels managed only four hits, three of them by Jose Cardena, but stranded runners.

Indians' Sonny Siebert Hurls First '66 No-Hitter At Senators

CLEVELAND (AP) — Sonny Siebert of the Cleveland Indians pitched the first no-hit game of the season Friday night, allowing only two base-runners as the Indians defeated the Washington Senators 2-0.

The no-hitter was the first for Siebert since Bob Feller hurled a no-hitter against Detroit in 1951.

The only Senator base-runners against the 29-year-old right-hander were Dick Nen on a one-out walk in the fifth inning and Paul Casanova on an error in the eighth.

With two out in the eighth, Casanova hit a grounder to Chico Salmon. The shortstop's throw was into the dirt for an error. Casanova, however, did not get past first.

Just before that, the Senators came closest to getting a hit off Siebert, who is in his third major league season.

With one out, Don Lock hit a sharp liner which appeared to be headed into left field. But third baseman Max Alvis leaped high into the air and speared the ball for the out.

The only other well-hit ball Siebert allowed was in the seventh. Bob Saverine led off the inning by hitting a sharp liner, but it went right to first baseman Fred Whitfield.

Nen walked in the fifth on a 3-2 count but remained at first as Siebert struck out Lock and got Casanova on a grounder to second baseman Dick Howser.

After getting out of the eighth, Siebert faced only three more outs before gaining his no-hitter.

Fred Valentine led off the ninth, batting for pitcher Phil Ortega. He worked Siebert to a 3-2 count before hitting a soft grounder to Howser, who threw him out.

Don Blasingame then came up and on the fourth pitch chopped a high bouncer to Whitfield, who tossed to Siebert covering first.

Saverine now was the last man between Siebert and the no-hitter. He took a pitch for a ball, then fouled one behind home plate. He fouled off another and took a second ball for a 2-2 count before lofting a fly to Chuck Hinton in left field. Hinton easily made the catch for the final out.

The Indians got the only run they needed when Leon Wagner hit his sixth homer into the right field seats in the first inning. Salmon rapped a run-scoring single in the third.

The key hits were two of only five the Indians managed off Washington's Ortega.

Siebert struck out seven and allowed only two other balls to reach the outfield in gaining his fifth victory against three defeats. Jim King flied to Wagner in left field in the fourth inning and Frank Howard lofted a fly to Vic Davallilo in the fifth.

Siebert, making his 11th start of the season, gained his third complete game and first shut-out. He went into the game with a 3.41 earned run average, somewhat above the ERA he finished with last year.

In 1965, his second season in the majors, the St. Louis resident compiled a 16-8 record with a 2.43 ERA. He was 7-9 and 3.23 in his first season in 1964.

Koufax Beats Giants For Win No. 11, 6-1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sandy Koufax won his 11th game, most in the majors, Friday night and pitched the Los Angeles Dodgers into first place in the National League by beating San Francisco 6-1 on four hits.

John Roseboro's two-run homer in the fifth was all Koufax needed in hurling the Dodgers past the Giants by four percentage points in the tight National League race.

Los Angeles wrapped it up in the sixth with four runs, John Kennedy's two-run double capping the uprising.

Koufax, who had lost only once, retired the first 11 men he faced before walking Willie Mays in the fourth. Ollie Brown's single with two out in the fifth was the Giants' first hit.

The run spoiled Koufax' bid for his second shutout over the Giants this season. The brilliant southpaw, however, still reduced his earned run average to 1.40, best in the majors. He also struck out 11.

The Giants didn't get a man to third until the ninth inning when Jim Davenport walked and went to third on Mays' single. Davenport then scored as Jim Hart beat out an infield single, but Cap Peterson ended the game by hitting into a double play.

The run spoiled Koufax' bid for his second shutout over the Giants this season. The brilliant southpaw, however, still reduced his earned run average to 1.40, best in the majors. He also struck out 11.

Juniors Running In Ruston

RUSTON (Special) — The State Jaycee Junior Champ-track and field meet is slated here today with athletes in the top division vying for a possible trip to Denver, Colo.

Competition is to be held in three divisions, ages 12 and 13, 14 and 15 and 16 - 18, with the first place winners in the latter group becoming eligible for the trip and the National Jaycees Junior Champ competitions.

Over 200 athletes from throughout the state, representing the 30 Jaycee chapters are expected to compete here today.

Field events begin at 9:30 a.m. with prelims in running events starting at 10 a.m. Running finals start at 1:30 p.m.

Winners in all divisions will receive medals. Gold, Silver and Bronze awards will be presented.

Members of the Louisiana Tech athletic department are in charge of the meet, which will be held on the Bulldog track.

The Jaycee Junior Champ program began in Ruston in 1960 and expanded into a part of the national Jaycee program.

A spokesman for the Ruston organization said the national competitions were scheduled to be taped for national television replay.

NFL Plans To Go Ahead With Addition Of Another Club; New Orleans On List

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League still plans to go ahead with a 16th team in 1967 as originally outlined before peace came to professional football.

New Orleans, Cincinnati, Seattle, Portland, Ore., and Phoenix are the leading possibilities. Unless some other city moves into the picture before 1970, four of this quartet could be in the league by that time.

Boston and Houston also made a pitch for an NFL franchise at the May meetings in Washington. Although the peace announcement did not rule out future two-club cities, it was believed that would be the case. The Houston Oilers, unable to agree on terms with Judge Roy Hofheinz, principal owner of the Astrodome, played in Rice Stadium last year. Owner Bud Adams of the Oilers insists he is sticking with that deal under a contract that has four years to run. Hofheinz urged the NFL to move into the Astrodome during the recent Washington meetings.

Boston presumably will be left to the Patriots, who are hopeful that the recent presentation of a civic group before the NFL will spur the building of a new stadium. New Orleans is regarded as strong possibility for 1967 along with Cincinnati. The NFL is committed to expanding to 16 clubs by 1967. The American Football League reportedly is willing to wait until 1968 before adding a 10th team.

When the two leagues start playing regular season inter-league games in 1970, there probably will be 28 teams, 14 in each league. This could involve adding an 11th and 12th team to the present AFL and shifting two NFL clubs. The Mechanics of dividing the league into two divisions or conferences in 1970 have yet to be worked out.

It is the current thinking of the NFL that the 14-game season will continue indefinitely. The problems of sharing several parks with baseball clubs precludes an earlier start.

When the NFL goes to 16 teams in 1967, there will be two eight-club conferences, each divided into four-club divisions. The division champions will play for the right to meet in the league championship game and the winner will go on to play the AFL winners. Eventually, under the 28-team setup, there will be two 14-club leagues, split into two seven-club conferences.

No date has been set for the first NFL-AFL championship game. However, Saturday Jan. 7 is regarded as a strong possibility. The AFL title game will be played Dec. 2 and the NFL's Jan. 1.

The Playoff Bowl between the NFL second-place teams already is set for Miami, Sunday, Jan. 8, and the Pro Bowl game of NFL all-star teams for Sunday, Jan. 15.

The site of the AFL-NFL game is yet to be determined but it is considered likely that it will be played at a neutral site in the warm weather belt.

Attempts At Track Arbitration Fails Just Before Meet Starts

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — A local attempt at arbitration failed in the red-hot dispute between the Amateur Athletic Union and the U.S. Track and Field Federation Friday.

The try came just before the Federation opened its fourth national meet in defiance of an AAU demand for its sanction of the meet because open athletes were competing.

In New York, Theodore W. Kheel, chairman of a five-man board named to arbitrate the differences between the AAU and the National Collegiate Athletic Association which backs USTFF, expressed distress at the new flareup.

He said the latest development would be taken up at the next meeting of the panel, appointed by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, in New York next Wednesday.

"I hope nothing will be done that can't be undone next week," said Kheel.

Fred Schwartz and Paul Markle, two Terre Haute representatives of the AAU, conferred fruitlessly Friday morning with a trio of Federation officials, headed by Chic Werner, Federation executive director.

The two AAU officials said all threatened reprisals against athletes competing in the Federation meet Friday and Saturday would be removed if the Federation accepted an AAU sanction Schwartz and Markle offered Werner an application blank for sanction, which was refused.

"We will apply for AAU sanction if the AAU will apply for Federation sanction of its national meet in New York two weeks from now," Werner told them.

The two AAU officials at first said this sounded far enough but decided to telephone Don Hull, AAU Executive Director, in New York, and present Werner's offer.

Before they made the call Werner told the AAU pair, "I can tell you what Hull will say: 'You're out of your mind.'"

After conversing with Hull, the pair told Werner, "That's exactly what Hull said."

The AAU and the National Collegiate Athletic Association have been battling for governing control of various sports, especially track and field, in the United States. The question of sanctioning athletes for meets has been the sore spot.

Werner, who was joined by coaches Bill McClure of Abilene Christian and Carl Cooper of the University of Arizona, asserted that there were only about 10 unattached or open athletes in the Federation meet. The rest are from colleges and therefore under supervision of the NCAA.

However, one of the unattached athletes is the nation's top miler, freshman Jim Ryun of the University of Kansas, who will compete for the Jayhawk Track Club in the half-mile Friday and the mile Saturday, as well as run on a mile relay team.

"Hull tells us that the AAU is the governing body and that the Track Federation has nothing to say about conduct of its meets," Werner said. "In the National AAU meet coming up in New York the college athletes will outnumber the open athletes 50 to 1, so why shouldn't the Federation have a co-sanction of that meet?"

McClure and Cooper attended the session because they are members of the Federation rules committee.

Werner said that it was ironic that the AAU did not take action against athletes who competed in the Federation's Texas district meet at Houston June 4.

"There were a lot of open athletes there including Randy Matson, who happens to be the world's greatest shot putter," said Werner. "That meet was not sanctioned by the AAU but I imagine that Matson will appear at the National AAU meet."

American Girls Trail Britain In Wightman Cup Tourney

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The tennis girls of the United States trailed Britain 2-1 in the Wightman Cup Friday after a grueling day on Wimbledon's sun-baked turf.

The British underdogs nosed ahead in a doubles match to the delight of a partisan crowd of 4,000.

Mrs. Ann Haydon Jones, Britain's No. 1, paired with Virginia Wade in a 7-5, 6-2 victory over Mrs. Billie Jean Moffitt King of Long Beach, Calif., and Janie Albert of Pebble Beach, Calif.

It was a nerve-racking experience for Miss Albert, playing in her first Wightman Cup match. The British pair concentrated on her and she lost four of her five services.

Earlier, Mrs. Jones defeated Nancy Richey of Dallas, Tex., 2-6, 6-4, 6-3 and Mrs. King outsmarted Miss Wade 6-2, 6-3.

Now the Americans must win three of the four matches scheduled today to retain the trophy they have held continuously since 1961.

The quality match of the day was the Jones-Richey singles.

Miss Richey's strength failed her at the end of a long and tiring duel with the British left-hander, who continued a winning run that has now lasted 10 weeks and has brought her the Italian and French titles.

It was mainly a baseline battle. At first Miss Richey's powerful flat forehand gave her the edge, and she appeared to be running away with the match. But slowly Mrs. Jones' strength and stamina began to tell.

The two girls fought like tigers in the final game of the second set — a vital turning point of the duel. It went to six deuces, with each player on advantage point three times. Mrs. Jones finally won it with a backhand volley.

The first six games of the final set all went against service.

Mrs. King's singles match went according to predictions. Miss Wade, lacking experience and out of condition, was no match for the American's volleys and subtle changes of pace.

Today's line-up is Mary Ann Eisel, St. Louis vs. Winnie Shaw; Miss Richey vs. Miss Wade; Mrs. King vs. Mrs. Jones; and Miss Richey and Miss Eisel vs. Rita Bentley and Liz Starkie.

Twins Roll On

CHICAGO (AP) — Dave Boswell pitched a four-hitter, and collected two hits himself as the Minnesota Twins defeated the Chicago White Sox 6-2 Friday night in a game without recurrence of any beanball incidents.

Boswell singled twice, driving in one run and scoring twice while gaining his second victory against four losses.

The game marked the first meeting between the two clubs since their beanball series May 17-19 when John Buzhardt of the Sox was accused of deliberately hitting rival pitcher Jim Perry after Perry had plunked Sox infielder Al Weis.

Boswell did hit Smoky Burgess with a pitch in the seventh inning, but the Twins hollered long and loud that it was a foul ball rather than a hit batsman.

The Twins scored four times in the second inning when they disposed of Buzhardt with singles by Jim Hall, Earl Battey, Boswell and Zoilo Versalles for two runs. Reliever Dennis Higgins then walked three men, forcing in the final two runs of the inning.

The first six games of the final set all went against service.

Dick Rusteck Checks Reds On Four Hits

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Rusteck, a 24-year-old left-hander making his major league debut, checked Cincinnati on four hits and pitched the New York Mets to a 5-0 victory Friday night.

Rusteck, called up from Jacksonville of the International League Thursday, outdueled Cincinnati ace Jim Maloney in posting the first major league victory of his four-year professional career.

Rusteck allowed only singles, struck out four and walked one. He did not allow a hit until Tony Perez singled leading off the fifth.

Eddie Bressoud, playing shortstop in place of Roy McMillan, supplied the only runs Rusteck needed. He had a three-run homer in the second inning after John Stephenson singled and Ron Swoboda was hit by a pitch.

Bressoud hit his second homer of the game in the eighth off reliever Jack Baldschun.

Maloney, now 6-2, was touched for another run in the third on singles by Ken Boyer, Ed Kranepool and New York.

NFL Plans To Go Ahead With Acquisition Of Another Club; New Orleans On List

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League still plans to go ahead with a 16th team in 1967 as originally outlined before peace came to professional football.

New Orleans, Cincinnati, Seattle, Portland, Ore., and Phoenix are the leading possibilities. Unless some other cities move into the picture before 1970, four of this quartet could be in the league by that time.

Boston and Houston also made a pitch for an NFL franchise at the May meetings in Washington. Although the peace announcement did not rule out future two-club cities, it was believed that would be the case.

The Houston Oilers, unable to agree on terms with Judge Roy Hofheinz, principal owner of the Astrodom, played in Rice Stadium last year. Owner Bud Adams of the Oilers insists he is sticking with that deal under a contract that has four years to run. Hofheinz urged the NFL to move into the Astrodom during the recent Washington meetings.

Boston presumably will be left to the Patriots, who are hopeful that the recent presentation of a civic group before the NFL will spur the building of a new stadium.

New Orleans is regarded as strong possibility for 1967 along with Cincinnati. The NFL is committed to expanding to 16 clubs by 1967. The American Football League reportedly is willing to wait until 1968 before adding a 10th team.

When the two leagues start playing regular season inter-league games in 1970, there probably will be 28 teams, 14 in each league. This could involve adding an 11th and 12th team to the present AFL and shifting two NFL clubs. The mechanics of dividing the league into two divisions or conferences in 1970 have yet to be worked out.

It is the current thinking of the NFL that the 14-game season will continue indefinitely. The problems of sharing several parks with baseball clubs precludes an earlier start.

When the NFL goes to 16 teams in 1967, there will be two eight-club conferences, each divided into four-club divisions. The division champions will play for the right to meet in the league championship game and the winner will go on to play the AFL winners. Eventually, under the 28-team setup, there will be two 14-club leagues, split into two seven-club conferences.

No date has been set for the first NFL-AFL championship game. However, Saturday Jan. 7 in regard as a strong possibility. The AFL title game will be played Dec. 2 and the NFL's Jan. 1.

The Playoff Bowl between the NFL second-place teams already is set for Miami, Sunday, Jan. 8, and the Pro Bowl game of NFL all-star teams for Sunday, Jan. 15.

The site of the AFL-NFL game is yet to be determined but it is considered likely that it will be played at a neutral site in the warm weather belt.

Top Seeded Liles Victim Of Injury

CROSSETT, Ark. (Special) — Top-seeded Gary Liles of Jonesboro, Ark., fell victim of an injury in the second round of the 11th Annual Crossett Open Junior Tennis Tournament.

Liles, who drew a bye and then whipped Tommy Woodrow of Alexandria in the first set of the second round, injured his ankle in the first of five entries for the tournament. Liles was forced to default.

Semifinals are on tap Sunday morning with finals following in the afternoon.

Wood hit his first homer of the year and Cash belted his 10th off Jim Bouton, 1-1, in the first inning.

The Tigers jumped on reliever Bob Friend for three runs in the fifth on Wood's double, singles by Al Kaline and Bill Freehan, and a triple by Gates Brown.

Anthony's tee shot landed in a brook to dash his hopes on the 18th. Cole needed a 12-foot putt to assure his 1-up victory over McCullum, and Cash eliminated McDonald on the final hole.

The weather was perfect with clear skies and not a sign of the North Sea mist which delayed play Thursday.

British Amateur Meet

Player's Protege Moves Into Semis

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland (AP) — Bobby Cole, 18-year-old South African protégé of Gary Player, two Scots and a Frenchman moved into the semifinals of the British Amateur Golf Championship Friday.

The U.S. challenge for the title ended in the round of 16 in the morning as Richard Anthony, 20, of Andalusia, Ala., lost 1-up to Henri de Lamaze of France and Charles McCullum, 38, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., was downed by Cole, also 1-up.

Hunter McDonald, a 25-year-old Scot living in Southfield, Mich., lost by one hole to Gordon Cosh, Scotland's Walker Cup player.

The two leading U.S. contenders, Bill Hyndman of Philadelphia and Bill Campbell of Huntington, W.Va., were eliminated Thursday.

Cole gained the semifinals by defeating 34-year-old Charlie Green, a former British Walker Cup player, 1-up.

Green, down two at the turn of the quarter-final match, gained a hole on the 14th when he scored an eagle three with a 14-foot putt.

The youngster, touted by some as a second Gary Player, didn't falter and halved the final holes with Green.

In the other quarter-final matches, Cosh defeated Bill Murray of Scotland, 2 and 1; Ronny Shade, another Scot Walker Cup player, defeated Allan Hall of Scotland, 3 and 1; Lamaze, 11-time winner of the French amateur, downed Dudley Littlestead of England, 2 and 1.

Semifinals will match Cosh and Shade and Cole and Lamaze. The 18-hole final match will be played this afternoon over the 7,059-yard, par 71 course.

The two Americans and McDonald were all ousted in the fifth round by a margin of one hole with none of the matches being decided until the final green.

Anthony's tee shot landed in a brook to dash his hopes on the 18th. Cole needed a 12-foot putt to assure his 1-up victory over McCullum, and Cash eliminated McDonald on the final hole.

Yankees Get Talbot In 5 Player Swap

DETROIT (AP) — The New York Yankees acquired Fred Talbot, a right-handed starting pitcher, and catcher Bill Bryan from Kansas City Friday in a swap for pitchers Gil Blanco, Bill Stafford and outfielder Roger Repoz.

The deal, the 19th between the two clubs, was a straight player swap with no cash involved.

Stafford, just recalled from the Toledo farm, had been scheduled to face Detroit in the second game of Sunday's doubleheader. Talbot will take his place.

Talbot, 24, had a 4-4 record with Kansas City this season after compiling a 10-12 mark last year. He had no complete games in 11 starts in 1966 and had an earned run average of 4.76.

Bryan, a left-handed hitting catcher, was batting .132 and had seven runs batted in. Bryan also has been used as a first baseman.

Repoz, 25, was used primarily as relief for Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris. He was batting .349 but had been at bat only 43 times in 37 games. The left-handed hitter and thrower, who is 6-foot-3 and weighs 195 pounds, divided the 1965 season between the Yankees and Toledo.

Stafford, 27, is a veteran Yankee who was sent out to the Toledo farm of the International League during spring training. He had been recalled to fill a pitching need when Whitey Ford went on the disabled list. Stafford had not appeared in a game.

Blanco, 20, was carried by the Yankees as a first year player in 1965 and appeared in only 17 games. The left-hander had a 1-1 record and was farmed out this spring to Toledo and later sent to Columbus, Ga., of the Southern League. His 1966 record was 3-1.

The last previous Yankee-Phillies deal was May 3, 1965, when the Yanks got catcher Doc Edwards for pitcher Rando Shelden.

"This gives me a young starting staff," said Manager Ralph Houk. "Talbot and Downing were born the same day. They will be 25 on June 28. Mel Stottlemyre and Fritz Peterson are 24 and Jim Bouton is 27."

Bob Friend recently was sent to the bullpen by the Yanks.

"I have been interested in Bryan for a couple of years," said Houk. "I think he is going to do a good job for us at Yankee Stadium because he is a left-handed pull hitter."

Siebert had no thoughts on No-Hitter

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland pitcher Sonny Siebert said he's been going so poorly lately he wasn't thinking about pitching a no-hitter Friday night.

"I was concentrating more on winning the game... because the way I've been going I needed the victory," he said after hurling a 2-0 no-hitter against the Washington Senators.

The 6-foot-3 right-hander said before he came to the ballpark his wife, Carol, had been kidding him about the way he's been going and, in particular, about the way he was bombed by Minnesota the last time out. Sonny lasted only six innings against the Twins Sunday.

"I told her, 'If you don't get off my back, I'll go out and pitch a no-hitter,'" said Siebert. "Along about the fourth inning, I started to think about that," he added.

But he said he didn't actually start to think about getting a no-hitter until about the eighth inning.

Did he feel stronger as he went along?

"I can't say that I got stronger," he replied, "but I was working harder."

"I was bearing down with everything I had, trying to get 'em out one at a time."

Siebert praised Joe Azcue, his catcher, for making him "keep the ball down." He said he had been getting the ball too high in the Minnesota game.

It was the first no-hitter for an Indian pitcher since July 1, 1951, when Bob Feller beat Detroit 2-1.

It was Siebert's fifth victory in eight decisions.

He said he didn't think he was throwing his best stuff at the Senators.

"Actually, I pitched a better game against Washington last year," he said. In that game he struck out 15. Friday night he struck out seven.

USL Wins Team NAIA Golf Title

SHAWNEE, Okla. (AP) — Don Iverson of Wisconsin State, La Crosse, shot a two-under-par 70 Friday for a 72-hole total of 282 to win the annual National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics Golf Tournament.

He was runner-up last year to Craig Metz of East Texas State, who was graduated at mid-term this year.

Southwest Louisiana of Lafayette won the team title with 1,178 strokes with Western Illinois 178 strokes behind at 1,205.

Second behind Iverson over the par 72 Elks Country Club course was Pat O'Brien of McNeese State, who had a 288.

East Texas State won the team title last year but did not qualify for the final 18-hole round.

Attempts At Track Arbitration Fails Just Before Meet Starts

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — A local attempt at arbitration failed in the red-hot dispute between the Amateur Athletic Union and the U.S. Track and Field Federation Friday.

The try came just before the Federation opened its fourth national meet in defiance of an AAU demand for its sanction of the meet because open athletes were competing.

In New York, Theodore W. Kheel, chairman of a five-man board named to arbitrate the differences between the AAU and the National Collegiate Athletic Association which backs USTFF, expressed distress at the new flareup.

He said the latest development would be taken up at the next meeting of the panel, appointed by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, in New York next Wednesday.

"I hope nothing will be done that can't be undone next week," said Kheel.

Fred Schwartz and Paul Markle, two Terre Haute representatives of the AAU, conferred fruitlessly Friday morning with a trio of Federation officials, headed by Chic Werner, Federation executive director.

The two AAU officials said all threatened reprisals against athletes competing in the Federation meet Friday and Saturday would be removed if the Federation accepted an AAU sanction Schwartz and Markle

Dick Rusteck Checks Reds On Four Hits

Rusteck, called up from Jacksonville of the International League Thursday, outdueled Cincinnati ace Jim Maloney in posting the first major league victory of his four-year professional career.

Rusteck allowed only singles, struck out four and walked one. He did not allow a hit until Tony Perez singled leading off the fifth.

Eddie Bressoud, playing shortstop in place of Roy McMillan, supplied the only runs Rusteck needed. He had a three-run homer in the second inning after John Stephenson singled and Ron Swoboda was hit by a pitch.

Bressoud hit his second homer of the game in the eighth off reliever Jack Baldschun.

Maloney, now 6-2, was touched for another run in the third on singles by Ken Boyer, Ed Kranepool and Stephen.

Mrs. King's singles match went according to predictions. Miss Wade, lacking experience and out of condition, was no match for the American's volleys and subtle changes of pace.

Today's line-up is Mary Ann Eisel, St. Louis vs. Winnie Wade; Miss Richey vs. Miss Wade; Mrs. King vs. Mrs. Jones; and Miss Richey vs. Mrs. Eisel vs. Rita Bentley and Liz Starkie.

Dave Boswell Sparkles As Twins Roll On

CHICAGO (AP) — Dave Boswell pitched a four-hitter, and collected two hits himself as the Minnesota Twins defeated the Chicago White Sox 6-2 Friday night in a game without recurrence of any beanball incidents.

Boswell singled twice, driving in one run and scoring twice while gaining his second victory against four losses.

The game marked the first meeting between the two clubs since their beanball series May 17-19 when John Buzhardt of the Sox was accused of deliberately hitting Perry pitcher Jim Perry after Perry had plunked Sox infielder Al Weis.

Boswell singled twice, driving in one run and scoring twice while gaining his second victory against four losses.

The Twins scored four times in the second inning when they disposed of Buzhardt with singles by Jim Hall, Earl Battey, Boswell and Zoilo Versalles for two runs. Reliever Dennis Higgins then walked three men, forcing in the final two runs of the inning.

Boswell did hit Smoky Burgess with a pitch in the seventh inning, but the Twins hollered long and loud that it was a foul ball rather than a hit batsman.

offered for Warner, an application blank for sanction, which was refused.

"We will apply for AAU sanction if the AAU will apply for Federation sanction of its national meet in New York two weeks from now," Werner told them.

The two AAU officials at first said this sounded fair enough but decided to telephone Don Hull, AAU Executive Director, in New York, and present Werner's offer.

Before they made the call Werner told the AAU pair, "I can tell you what Hull will say: 'You're out of your mind.'"

After conversing with Hull, the pair told Werner: "That's exactly what Hull said."

The AAU and the National Collegiate Athletic Association have been battling for governing control of various sports, especially track and field, in the United States. The question of sanctioning athletes for meets has been the sore spot.

Werner, who was joined by coaches Bill McClure of Abilene Christian and Carl Cooper of the University of Arizona, asserted that there were only about 10 unattached or open athletes in the Federation meet. The rest are from colleges and therefore under supervision of the NCAA.

However, one of the unattached athletes is the nation's top miler, freshman Jim Ryun of the University of Kansas, who will compete for the Jayhawk Track Club in the half-mile Friday and the mile Saturday, as well as run on a mile relay team.

Hull tells us that the AAU is the governing body and that the Track Federation has nothing to say about conduct of its meets.

Werner said, "In the National AAU meet coming up in New York the college athletes will outnumber the open athletes 50 to 1, so why shouldn't the Federation have a co-sanction of that meet?"

McClure and Cooper attended the session because they are members of the Federation rules committee.

Werner said that it was ironic that the AAU did not take action against athletes who competed in the Federation's Texas district meet at Houston June 4.

"There were a lot of open athletes there including Randy Matson, who happens to be the world's greatest shot putter," said Werner. "That meet was not sanctioned by the AAU but I imagine that Matson will appear at the National AAU meet."

Astros Squeeze By Chicago, 1-0

HOUSTON (AP) — Jim Wynn, the first Houston runner to reach second base against Ken Holtzman, based on Bob Aspromonte's single in the 10th inning, giving the Astros a 1-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs Friday night.

Holtzman allowed the Astros only three hits through the first nine innings. But Wynn led off the 10th with a single and went to second on Dave Nicholson's bunt. Nicholson was safe at first when the throw to second was too late to get Wynn.

Farrell scattered seven hits in his nine innings of pitching, allowing only one Cub to reach third. Byron Browne singled in the seventh and went all the way to third when Rusty Staub let the ball get past him.

But Randy Hundley struck out and after Don Kessinger was walked intentionally a Browne was caught in a rundown between third and home and tagged out.

McCarver Puts Birds By Phillies

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Tim McCarver clubbed four straight hits and drove in the deciding run, leading the St. Louis Cardinals to a 5-4 victory over Philadelphia Friday night.

The Cardinals snapped a 3-3 tie in the sixth inning, McCarver scoring the lead run on Bob Tolan's sacrifice fly after singling, stealing second and con- tending to third on catcher Bob Gecker's overthrow.

McCarver knocked in the Cards' fifth run with a two-out single in the seventh, and it proved decisive when the Phil- lies countered with a run in the bottom of the inning on Tony Taylor's double and a single by John Callison.

McCarver also drove in one of two St. Louis runs in the first with a single and scored in the fourth after a lead-off triple.

Rich Allen crashed a two-run homer for the Phils in the first. It was his 10th.

The Phils added a run in the third on Dick Groat's single, two walks and an infield out.

Picard Takes Four Stroke Amateur Lead

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — Lafayette's Shirley Picard took a four-stroke lead Friday at the halfway mark of the 46th annual Louisiana State Amateur Golf Tournament.

The defending champion, a police detective, toured the Lake Charles Country Club par 72 layout in a one-under-par 71 for a 140 total.

In second place after 36 holes was Shreveport's Don Bird with an even par 144, while John McCue of New Orleans lay five strokes off the pace at 145. Mc- Cue, who is in his 60's, had the low round of the day, a four-under-par 68.

Benny Fowler of Baton Rouge was alone at 146 while Buddy Short of Lafayette and Paul Henslee of Franklin were grouped at 147. Henslee, who posted an even-par 72 during the day, collected the first hole-in-one of the tournament, making his ace on the 190-yard par three 6th hole with a four iron.

The tournament, which ends Sunday, formed the champion- ship flight Friday with the low 34 amateurs qualifying.

Recent Merger Will Move Fast Through Court

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A Miami Dolphin official said that pro football's recent merger will not linger long in the hands of the justice department.

Charles Burr, business man- ager for the new American Football League team, told members of a Florida sports writers association meeting here that if the Justice Depart- ment rules the AFL-National Football League merger illegal "Pro football will surely die."

"The Justice Department must surely realize that we cer- tainly would not go into such an expensive deal without protec- tive clauses in our contracts dealing with antitrust laws and such," he said.

The merger which brought about a temporary truce to the pro pocketbook war was com- pleted Wednesday.

"At exactly 4:07 p.m., a war of finances that was surely to lead both divisions to ruin had ended," said Burr, adding a quick "thank heaven."

"Actually we were working on a truce behind the scenes for weeks. It had to come and I think that the Gogolak case was the catalyst that moved us all to action."

Pete Gogolak, star placekick- er for the Buffalo Bills of the AFL last season, signed a con- tract with the NFL's New York Giants.

ARNOLD PALMER, along with members of his gallery express disappoint- ment when his shot from behind trees and television cables failed to reach the seventeenth green and fell into a sand trap as he played in the first round of the Buick Open tournament in Grand Blanc Friday. After blasting out of the trap Palmer three putted and wound up with a triple bogey on the par three hole. (AP Wirephoto)

Three Tied For Buick Open Lead

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP) — Phil Rodgers birdied three of the first four holes on the front side and tied Fred Marti and Jim Ferrier for the first round lead in the $100,000 Buick Open Golf Tournament Friday.

The two-under-par 70 scored by the three golfers was the highest opening round leading score for the touring pros since Billy Casper and Gay Brewer shot 70s in the Tournament of Champions eight weeks ago.

Rodgers, who won the Doral

Open earlier this year, put to- gether identical rounds of 35 over the 7,280-yard Warwick Hills course.

Rodgers, from LaJolla, Calif., had birdie putts of 10 feet, 18 inches and 3 feet as he started his last nine holes. He played the back nine first.

The course, longest on the pro tour, was soggy from all-day rain Thursday which forced a one-day delay in the first round. Northerly winds of 15 miles per hour swept the course most of the day and helped dry it off, giving the afternoon players a break.

But only six others — Kermit Zarley, Julius Boros, Sam Snead, Al Gieberger, Dave Mar- ad and Roger Gonsberg — were able to break par. All had 71s. Zarley and Boros were the only ones to turn the trick in the morning.

Defending champion Tony Lema, seeking his third straight title here, zoomed eight strokes off the pace, carding a 78.

Arnold Palmer, who also played the back nine first, ap- peared to be making a charge at the leaders' en he put to- gether three straight birdies to go two under par.

But he hit his tee shot on the 222-yard, par 3 17th hole in back of a scorecard, hit into a trap and three-putted from about eight feet for a bogey 6.

Palmer missed an 18-foot eagle putt on the 14th hole but got his birdie and added two more with 25-foot chip shots on the next two holes. He settled for a 73.

Ferrier shot the front nine in a 33, lowest of the day, but he bogeyed three of the last four holes.

Marti had three birdies on the back nine and made the turn with a 34.

Soviet Union's Moderate Tones On Viet Nam Indicate Extending Of Olive Branch

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

In quick succession, three top Soviet leaders have spoken out in moderate tones about Viet Nam. It is almost as if they were extending an olive branch to the United States.

The latest, Leonid I. Brezhnev, general secretary of the Soviet Communist party, hinted Friday that many pressing international questions might be on the way to solution if the Viet Nam conflict were out of the way.

The Soviet leaders give the impression that they feel the United States would like to find a way out of the Viet Nam morass and to be indicating that the Soviet Union would not be unwilling to search out a path.

Like Premier Alexei N. Kosygin before him, Brezhnev used the word "sober" to describe Western leaders, including Americans, with whom Moscow might be able to talk.

The Soviet Union, said Brezhnev, does not refuse to cooperate "with such political leaders and groups in the West which are capable of a sober approach to the vital questions of international relations."

Kosygin had spoken of "sober-minded" American leaders. Brezhnev, Kosygin and the Soviet president, Nikolai V. Podgorny, all spoke in pre-election appearances in Moscow. All used the word "necessary" to describe the help the U.S.S.R. intended to give the Viet Nam Communists. There seemed to be a lack of saber-rattling in their remarks.

The Communist party leader indicated that a problem close to the American heart — prevention of the spread of nuclear weapons — might be better attacked if something could be done to get Viet Nam out of the way.

Brezhnev said the solution of two "most important problems", the end of the Viet Nam conflict and measures safeguarding "European security" would change the entire world situation and "thereby facilitate the realization of other aims such as the termination of the arms race, nonproliferation of nuclear weapons and general controlled disarmament."

The tone of Brezhnev's remarks could be construed as most as pleading. He conceded our budget, on our national dictum that heavy industry — the sinews of military power — would continue to have priority "as the main basis for strengthening of the country's defense potential."

At the same time, he said, measures would be taken to speed up development of light and food industries and narrowing the gap between them and the development of heavy industry.

Soviet Union's Moderate Tones On Viet Nam Indicate Extending Of Olive Branch

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

In quick succession, three top Soviet leaders have spoken out in moderate tones about Viet Nam. It is almost as if they were extending an olive branch to the United States.

The latest, Leonid I. Brezhnev, general secretary of the Soviet Communist party, hinted Friday that many pressing international questions might be on the way to solution if the Viet Nam conflict were out of the way.

The Soviet leaders give the impression that they feel the United States would like to find a way out of the Viet Nam morass and to be indicating that the Soviet Union would not be unwilling to search out a path.

Like Premier Alexei N. Kosygin before him, Brezhnev used the word "sober" to describe Western leaders, including Americans, with whom Moscow might be able to talk.

The Soviet Union, said Brezhnev, does not refuse to cooperate "with such political leaders and groups in the West which are capable of a sober approach to the vital questions of international relations."

Kosygin had spoken of "sober-minded" American leaders.

Brezhnev, Kosygin and the Soviet president, Nikolai V. Podgorny, all spoke in pre-election appearances in Moscow. All used the word "necessary" to describe the help the U.S.S.R. intended to give the Viet Nam Communists. There seemed to be a lack of saber-rattling in their remarks.

The Communist party leader indicated that a problem close to the American heart — prevention of the spread of nuclear weapons — might be better attacked if something could be done to get Viet Nam out of the way.

Brezhnev said the solution of two "most important problems", the end of the Viet Nam conflict and measures safeguarding "European security" would change the entire world situation and "thereby facilitate the realization of other aims such as the termination of the arms race, nonproliferation of nuclear weapons and general controlled disarmament."

The tone of Brezhnev's remarks could be construed almost as pleading. He conceded that the Soviet economy was badly in need of a measure of world peace.

"It is generally known," he said, "that the growing demands and requirements of the population were not fully satisfied, that our light and food industries did not get sufficient funds for their development in the past."

"The outlays on the army and armed forces weigh heavily on our budget, on our national economy. We would like to speed up the advancement toward communism, to throw off from our shoulders at least part of this burden. But so far, the situation does not allow us to do so."

This may be about as candid as a Soviet leader can be, particularly with his own "hawks" presumably looking over his shoulder. To appease them, possibly, Brezhnev repeated the dictum that heavy industry — the sinews of military power — would continue to have priority "as the main basis for strengthening of the country's defense potential."

At the same time, he said, measures would be taken to speed up development of light and food industries and narrowing the gap between them and the development of heavy industry.

MONROE MORNING WORLD, Saturday, June 11, 1966 1-B

Simonton-Irvin Vows Today Preceded By Evening Parties

The wedding rehearsal last evening for Miss Sheila Irvin and Thomas Simonton was followed by a dinner party at Bayou DeSiard Country Club. Hosts for the occasion were the parents and sister of the prospective groom, Dr. and Mrs. R. Morgan Simonton and Miss Merrie Jo Simonton.

Mrs. Simonton was wearing a white Fiberline sheath fashioned with a scoop neck and short sleeves, while Miss Simonton's sleeveless sheath was of antique gold linen. The bride-elect's dress was a grape-colored silk with cowl neckline.

Dining tables were arranged in a hollow square shape around the lounge of the club. Roping of green boxwood trailed along the tables and was accepted at intervals with tiny votive lights. Within the center of the square was a round table featuring a large pyramid arrangement of white stock, gladioli and other white blossoms.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Irvin, parents of the bride-elect, Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Turner Jr., Joe Bailey Grant, Miss Molly Shelton, Markley Huey, Miss Julia Brumfield, Michael Irvin, Miss Carole Mosely, Jens Lorenz, Mr. and Mrs. Nat Troy, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Grant III, Mr. and Mrs. W. King Stubbs Jr., Mrs. Ernest Eaves, Charles A. Taylor, Father William Baldridge, Billy Allen, Raul Garcia, Mr. and Mrs. Lance Mann.

BRUNCH

The honored couple and other guests gathered in the Garden Room of Bayou DeSiard Country Club at 11 o'clock Friday morning for the brunch given by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Masur, Miss Gretchen Masur and Miss Barbara Masur.

The center posts of the room were entwined with branches of smilax and the alcove was decorated with a green jardiniere of magnolia and loquat foliage. Two large circular tables were placed in front of the large window for members of the wedding party. White cut-work cloths were used on all the tables with arrangements of mixed seasonal flowers. Green crystal and place cards tied with lilies of the valley completed the table appointments.

Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Irvin, Dr. and Mrs. Simonton, Miss Simonton, Joe Bailey Grant, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hines Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Edmund G. Brown Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Nat Troy, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Turner Jr., Miss Molly Shelton, Markley Huey, Miss Carole Mosely, Travis Oliver, Miss Julia Brumfield, Mike Irvin, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Grant III, Mr. and Mrs. W. King Stubbs Jr., Miss Gretchen Masur, Miss Barbara Masur, Elmer Slagle, Charles Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. John Eby, Mrs. Ernest Eaves, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Grant Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Lance Mann.

BUFFET

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund G. Brown and Dr. and Mrs. George W. Wright Jr. were hosts Thursday evening at a cocktail buffet in the Brown home on Lakeside Drive.

Blue hydrangeas were used in a silver wine cooler in the entrance hall and in an arrangement on the piano in the living room. Daisies and chrysanthemums in tones of yellow and gold were combined in a centerpiece for the table in the informal room overlooking Phillips Lake. White stock, daisies and yellow roses filled a silver centerpiece on the table in the dining room.

For the evening party Miss Irvin chose to wear a green crepe dress featuring a square neck in both front and back.

Invited to share the occasion with the hosts and engaged couple were Mr. and Mrs. Irvin,

Mrs. Walter H. Jones, Jr., at right. Mrs. R. N. Goodwin, mother of the bride-elect, at extreme left, was also present for the gay party.

Miss Goodwin Honoree For Bridal Party

Dr. and Mrs. Simonton, Miss Simonton, Joe Bailey Grant, Michael Irvin, Miss Molly Shelton, Markley Huey, Miss Julia Brumfield, Miss Carole Mosely, Travis Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Turner Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Nat Troy, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Grant III, Mr. and Mrs. Joe C. Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. John Jordan, Miss Ellen Ferguson, Prent Seymour, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Riley, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Burgoyne, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Brockman, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. James D. Sparks Jr., Mr. and Mrs. George Smelser, Mr. and Mrs. T. Arthur Grant Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Jack Masur, Miss Gretchen Masur, Miss Barbara Masur, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wheeler, Miss Dottie Amman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Campbell, Mrs. Elmer C. Slagle, Charles Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Lance Mann, Mrs. Mabel Cole Ratliff, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Johnson.

Parents of the bride-elect are Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Goodwin of West Monroe, and Mr. Daspit is the son of Mrs. D. J. Daspit and the late Dr. Daspit of Franklin.

In the living room the bride's book and a memory candle reposed on an Irish linen covered table, presided over by Mrs. Jones. The refreshment table was overlaid with an imported hand made lace cloth, with a silver coffee service at one end and a crystal punch bowl at the opposite end. Mrs. Mable Leonard assisted in serving guests.

Miss Goodwin was wearing a pink linen sheath with matching accessories and a gift corsage. Guests called between the appointed hours of 7:30 and 9:30 p.m.

Rehearsal Dinner, Luncheon And Breakfast Climax Heard-Cobb Prenuptial Courtesies

This evening's nuptials of Miss Judy Sharon Cobb and Edward Taylor Heard, III in the First Methodist Church of Monroe have continued to inspire a round of parties, including the bridesmaids' luncheon, rehearsal dinner, and wedding breakfast. Parents of the betrothed couple are Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Bishop Cobb, 804 Auburn Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Taylor Heard, Jr., 1701 Auburn Ave., all of Monroe.

This morning at 11 o'clock Dr. and Mrs. Burchall Liles, with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hinkle and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Colvett of Memphis, Tennessee, as co-hosts, will honor Miss Cobb and Mr. Heard with a wedding breakfast at the Liles home at Deborah Drive.

Spring bouquets will be used throughout the party areas. Silver candelabra on the buffet table in the dining room will hold arrangements of Bride's roses interspersed with English ivy.

After being served, guests will be seated at individual tables on the patio with center arrangements of magnolias which will provide a cool and inviting view of the bayou.

For the party Miss Cobb will wear a three-piece ensemble of white waffle pique trimmed in brown. A large bow of self material accents the brown and white polka dot organza sleeveless shell. White accessories will complete her outfit.

Out-of-town guests, members of the wedding party, and families of the honored couple being entertained are Mrs. M. M. Moreland, Miss Vickie Moreland, Colonel and Mrs. John Wimberly, Mr. Barry Wimberly, Miss Janet Wimberly, Mr. Gary Wimberly, Gene Wimberly, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Culpepper, all of Ringgold, La., Mr. and Mrs. John Alan Cobb, Alan Cobb, Magnolia, Arkansas, Mrs. Irma Cobb, Farmerville, La., Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Donald McKnight, Mr. and Mrs. William Meeks, all of El Dorado, Ark., Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Phelps, Mrs. Ila Phelps, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wadley, Colonel and Mrs. Harold Oakmail, Sulphur Springs, Tex., Mr. and Mrs. Susan Denny, Mr. Otway Denny, all of Houston, Tex., and Mrs. Joe Heard, Jackson, Miss.

The bride's table was placed at the head of the U-shaped tables and held silver candelabra with arrangements of roses and daisies. The side tables also had similar arrangements in silver candelabra. Ivy interspersed with crystal votive lights and white flowers and topiary trees placed at vantage points throughout the room further enhanced the decor.

At this time the honored couple chose to present their attendants with gifts, mementos of the occasion.

Those attending the rehearsal dinner with the honored couple were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Perry, James Lannis Roberts, Baton Rouge, La., Miss Carol Cahn, Lloyd Kimbrough, Ita Bena, Miss Pat Ainsworth, Dick Ethridge, Miss Iva Nell Hilburn, Barre Tanguis, Miss Lucille Morton, Henry Hinkle Jr., Miss Linda Horn, Robert Koontz, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cobb, parents of the bride-elect, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Heard Jr., parents of the groom-to-be, and the hosts.

REHEARSAL DINNER

The Fireside Room of the Paragon Club was the setting for the rehearsal dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Heard, parents of the future groom, and Mr. and Mrs. Otway Broad Denny of Houston, Tex., aunt and uncle of the groom-to-be, following the Friday evening wedding rehearsal.

Greeting guests at the entrance, which was lighted outside by twin pyramids of ivy with hurricane lights, was Mrs. William Kimbrough Jr., of Ita Bena, Miss.

A 9 - branch wrought iron candelabrum garlanded with Shasta daisies and ivy was noted on a long low table in the foyer. As the guests entered they were served punch by Mrs. Joe Heard, Jackson, Miss., and Mrs. Harold Oakmail, Sulphur Springs, Tex., both aunts of the groom.

The bride's table was placed at the head of the U-shaped tables and held silver candelabra with arrangements of roses and daisies. The side tables also had similar arrangements in silver candelabra. Ivy interspersed with crystal votive lights and white flowers and topiary trees placed at vantage points throughout the room further enhanced the decor.

Those attending the rehearsal dinner with the honored couple were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Perry,

BRIDESMAIDS' LUNCHEON

A silver basket filled to overflowing with pink carnations and salmon-colored daisies interspersed with Maidenhair fern, with pink satin ribbons extending the length of the table, were the focal points for the Bridesmaids' luncheon in the Gold Room of the Paragon Club on Thursday, June 9. Hostesses for the complement to Miss Cobb were Mrs. Harvey Perry, who is to serve as matron of honor in Miss Cobb's wedding, and her mother, Mrs. Dhu Thompson.

Silver appointments further enhanced the decor for the luncheon table, which was overlaid with a pink linen cloth.

The honoree chose to wear a heavenly blue costume suit of pure silk which featured a lace cowl neckline and tiny covered buttons defined the front of the cut-away jacket. Her attire was accented by matching blue accessories and she was presented a gift corsage of pink roses by her hostesses.

Tiny pink roses holding place cards marked the places for the honored guest, Mrs. J. B. Cobb, Mrs. E. T. Heard Jr., Mrs. Otway Denny, Miss Carol Jean Cahn, Mrs. Bill Bryant, Miss Marretta Heidenreich, and the hosts.

Lewis-Knotts Bridal Party Entertained

The Queen's Room at Stanton Hall in Natchez, Mississippi was scene of the rehearsal dinner given Friday night, June 10 by Dr. and Mrs. Nathan Ben Lewis of Vicksburg, honoring their son, Douglas Bazzinsky Lewis and his fiancée, Miss Nancy Rutledge Knotts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Christopher Knotts of Sicily Island.

The dinner at 8 p.m. followed the rehearsal of the wedding which will take place tonight at 7:30 p.m. in First Methodist Church at Wisner.

Covered with a pink silk organza cloth in floor length with deep ruffle border, the bride's table was centered with an arrangement of pink stock, roses and lilies of Ireland. A second dinner table for remainder of the guests was covered with a cloth of pale silk organza and featured as central decor a five branch silver epergne holding pink roses, babies breath and daisies with greenery, flanked by pink tapered in triple silver candelabra.

For the occasion Miss Knotts was wearing an after-five dress of black silk linen with bodice of white organza.

Guests in addition to the betrothed couple and their parents were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Knotts, Miss Karen Burnside, Miss Amanda Burnside, Miss Nancy K. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Newchurch, Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. Thornhill, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Henry Baughman, Richard Baxter Wilson II, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Henry Fenstermacher II, Dr. John Stephan, John Wayne Jabour, Rev. and Mrs. Ira Love, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cruce, Mrs. Leona Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Columbus Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Neely, Miss Joyce Tisdale, Mrs. Betty Calhoun.

Dr. and Mrs. Ed Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. James Stubbs, Mr. and Mrs. George Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Emery Douglas, Miss Duane Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Bunyan Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. Saul Freid, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ford Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Moe Berry, Miss Leslie Berry, Mr. and Mrs. Marrou Metzger, Mrs. Ethel Metzger and Seymour Metzger.

Simonton-Irvin Vows Today Preceded By Evening Parties

The wedding rehearsal last evening for Miss Sheila Irvin and Thomas Simonton was followed by a dinner party at Bayou DeSiard Country Club. Hosts for the occasion were the parents and sister of the prospective groom, Dr. and Mrs. R. Morgan Simonton and Miss Merrie Jo Simonton.

Mrs. Simonton was wearing a white Fiberlaine sheath fashioned with a scoop neck and short sleeves, while Miss Simonton's sleeveless sheath was of antique gold linen. The bride-elect's dress was a grape-colored silk with cowl neckline.

Dining tables were arranged in a hollow square shape around the lounge of the club. Roping of green boxwood trailed along the tables and was accepted at intervals with tiny votive lights. Within the center of the square was a round table featuring a large pyramid arrangement of white stock, gladioli and other white blossoms.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Irvin, parents of the bride-elect, Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Turner Jr., Joe Bailey Grant, Miss Molly Shelton, Markley Huey, Miss Julia Brumfield, Michael Irvin, Miss Carole Mosely, Jens Lorenz, Mr. and Mrs. Nat Troy, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Grant III, Mr. and Mrs. W. King Stubbs Jr., Mr. Ernest Eaves, Charles A. Taylor, Father William Baldridge, Billy Allen, Raul Garcia, Mr. and Mrs. Lance Mann.

BRUNCH

The honored couple and other guests gathered in the Garden Room of Bayou DeSiard Country Club at 11 o'clock Friday morning for the brunch given by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Masur, Miss Gretchen Masur and Miss Barbara Masur.

The center posts of the room were entwined with branches of smilax and the above was decorated with a green jardiniere of magnolia and loquat foliage. Two large circular tables were placed in front of the large window for members of the wedding party. White cut-work cloths were used on all the tables with arrangements of mixed seasonal flowers. Green crystal and place cards tied with lilies of the valley completed the table appointments.

Miss Irvin's pale blue linen shift was designed with a V-neckline and square panel in the front.

BUFFET

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund G. Brown and Dr. and Mrs. George W. Wright Jr. were hosts Thursday evening at a cocktail buffet in the Brown home on Lakeside Drive.

Blue hydrangeas were used in a silver wine cooler in the entrance hall and in an arrangement on the piano in the living room. Daisies and chrysanthemums in tones of yellow and gold were combined in a centerpiece for the table in the informal room overlooking Phillips Lake. White stock, daisies and yellow roses filled a silver eperge on the table in the dining room.

For the evening party Miss Irvin chose to wear a green crepe dress featuring a square neck in both front and back.

Invited to share the occasion with the hosts and engaged couple were Mr. and Mrs. Irvin,

RECENTLY NAMED HONOREE at a bridal shower in anticipation of her approaching marriage was Miss Linda Sharon Goodwin, second from left. Hostesses were Mrs. Joan James and

Mrs. Walter H. Jones, Jr., at right. Mrs. R. N. Goodwin, mother of the bride-elect, at extreme left, was also present for the gay party.

The refreshment table was overlaid with an imported hand made lace cloth, with a silver coffee service at one end and a crystal punch bowl at the opposite end. Mrs. Mable Leonard assisted in serving guests.

Miss Goodwin was wearing a pink linen sheath with matching accessories and a gift corsage. Guests called between the appointed hours of 7:30 and 9:30 p.m.

Rehearsal Dinner, Luncheon And Breakfast Climax Heard-Cobb Prenuptial Courtesies

This evening's nuptials of Miss Judy Sharon Cobb and Edward Taylor Heard, III in the First Methodist Church of Monroe have continued to inspire a round of parties, including the bridesmaids' luncheon, rehearsal dinner, and wedding breakfast. Parents of the betrothed couple are Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Bishop Cobb, 804 Auburn Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Taylor Heard, Jr., 1701 Auburn Ave., all of Monroe.

This morning at 11 o'clock Dr. and Mrs. Burchall Liles, with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hinkle and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Colvett of Memphis, Tennessee, as co-hosts, will honor Miss Cobb and Mr. Heard with a wedding breakfast at the Liles home at Deborah Drive.

Spring bouquets will be used throughout the party areas. Silver candelabra on the buffet table in the dining room will hold arrangements of Bride's roses interspersed with English ivy.

After being served, guests will be seated at individual tables on the patio with center arrangements of magnolias which will provide a cool and inviting view of the bayou.

For the party Miss Cobb will wear a three-piece ensemble of white waffle pique trimmed in brown. A large bow of self material accents the brown and white polka dot organdy sleeveless shell. White accessories will complete her outfit.

Out-of-town guests, members of the wedding party, and families of the honored couple being entertained are Mrs. M. M. Moreland, Miss Vickie Moreland, Colonel and Mrs. John Wimberly, Mr. Barry Wimberly, Miss Janet Wimberly, Mr. Gary Wimberly, Gene Wimberly, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. B. Cobb, parents of the bride-elect, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Heard Jr., parents of the groom-to-be, and the hosts.

REHEARSAL DINNER

The Fireside Room of the Paragon Club was the setting for the rehearsal dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Heard, parents of the future groom, and Mr. and Mrs. Otway Broad Denny of Houston, Tex., aunt and uncle of the groom-to-be, following the Friday evening wedding rehearsal.

Greeting guests at the entrance, which was lighted outside by twin pyramids of ivy with hurricane lights, was Mrs. William Kimbrough Jr., of Itta Bena, Miss.

A 9 - branch wrought iron candelabrum garlanded with Shasta daisies and ivy was noted on a long low table in the foyer. As the guests entered they were served punch by Mrs. Joe Heard, Jackson, Miss., and Mrs. Harold Oakmail, Sulphur Springs, Tex., both aunts of the groom.

The bride's table was placed at the head of the U-shaped tables and held silver candelabra with arrangements of roses and daisies. The side tables also had similar arrangements in silver candelabra. Ivy interspersed with crystal votive lights and white flowers and topiary trees placed at vantage points throughout the room further enhanced the decor.

Miss Cobb's trousseau model of turquoise chiffon over silk taffeta with softly draped bodice and full billowy skirt and matching turquoise accessories, was accented by a jacket and presented to her by the hosts.

At this time the honored couple chose to present their attendants with gifts, mementos of the occasion.

Those attending the rehearsal dinner with the honored couple were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Perry,

BRIDESMAIDS' LUNCHEON

A silver basket filled to overflowing with pink carnations and salmon-colored daisies interspersed with Maidenhair fern, with pink satin ribbons extending the length of the table, were the focal points for the Bridesmaids' luncheon in the Gold Room of the Paragon Club on Thursday, June 9. Hostesses for the compliment to Miss Cobb were Mrs. Harvey Perry, who is to serve as matron of honor in Miss Cobb's wedding, and her mother, Mrs. Dhu Thompson.

Silver appointments further enhanced the decor for the luncheon table, which was overlaid with a pink linen cloth.

The honoree chose to wear a heavenly blue costume suit of pure silk which featured a lace cowl neckline and tiny covered buttons defined the front of the cut-away jacket. Her attire was accented by matching blue accessories and she was presented a gift corsage of pink roses by her hostesses.

Tiny pink roses holding place cards marked the places for the honored guest, Mrs. J. B. Cobb, Mrs. E. T. Heard Jr., Mrs. Otway B. Denny, Miss Carol Jean Cahn, Mrs. Bill Bryant, Miss Marretta Heidenreich, and the hostesses.

MRS. GEORGE RICHARD SAVAGE

Savage-Brown Vows Exchanged In Mississippi Ceremony

The Mendenhall Methodist Church in Mendenhall, Mississippi, was the scene of the ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Shirley Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robert Brown of Mendenhall, and George Richard Savage, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Glynn Savage of Monroe. The Rev. William C. Fulham was the officiating minister, and vows were exchanged before the altar with a floral background of greenery, white gladioli and pink carnations.

Mrs. Bob Jones was organist for the ceremony. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza with a fitted bodice and Swiss applique highlighted by a chapel train. Her veil of silk illusion fell from a crown of pearls. She carried a bouquet of carnations and lily of the valley flowers, centered with an orchid.

Mrs. Jim A. Palmero of Kreole, Mississippi, attended the bride as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Parker Dykes of Forest, and Mrs. James Gray McLemore of Oxford, cousins of the bride, and Mrs. Charles R. Brown, Jr. of Houston, Texas.

Mrs. Tommy Cooley of Shannon, Mississippi, and Miss Kaye Pace of Amory, Mississippi, presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Rex Broadhead, Jr., served as tea girl. Miss Wauden Harris, cousin of the bride, presented guests with rice bags.

Parties Climax Prenuptial Events Prior To Wedding

The rehearsal supper last evening climaxed the prenuptial parties that have complimented Miss Pam Franks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Franks, and her fiancé, Joe Raymond Peace. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Peace, hosts for the final festivity last night.

The E. C. Chambers home was the scene of the supper following the rehearsal. Artistically arranged bouquets of spring flowers were used to enhance the decor of the party area. The prospective groom and his fiancée, who was wearing a Navy shift trimmed with white lace, greeted the guests as they arrived.

The soon to wed couple presented gifts to their attendants as a memento of their wedding.

RICE BAG PARTY

Pink tulle, ribbons and white rice centered the tables for the guests who gathered at the rice-bag festivity given for Miss Franks on Wednesday night with Mrs. M. B. Nolen Jr. and Mrs. A. E. Krause Jr., as hostesses. The Nolen home in Sicily Island was the setting for the bridal party from 3 until 5 p.m. Close friends of the honoree were guests for the informal festivity and all were attired in casual sportswear. Party foods and iced drinks were served by the hostesses after the fashioning of the dainty rice bags.

Mrs. C. B. Mayo assisted at the reception.

For traveling, the bride wore an aqua suit with matching hat and bone accessories. Her corsage was an orchid from her bouquet. Following a wedding trip the couple will be at home in New Orleans.

REHEARSAL DINNER

On the eve of the wedding the bridal party was entertained with a rehearsal dinner at the Mendenhall Hotel by the groom's parents.

The bride is a graduate of Mississippi State College for Women where she was a member of Alpha Beta Alpha, national honorary library science fraternity, and the Troubadour Social Club.

Mr. Savage attended Baylor University, received his B. S. degree from Northeast Louisiana State College at Monroe, and his M. S. degree at Mississippi State University.

It was also presented for several performances at the New Library and Museum of the Performing Arts at Lincoln Center.

Dear Abby

Woman Reports She's On Verge Of Breakdown

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am on the verge of a nervous breakdown and it's my own fault, but I can't help it. I was 20 when I married Woodley. He was 29 and completely bald except for a little fringe of hair around his head. It bothered me then, I told myself I'd get used to it. Well, I never did. It kept bothering me more and more.

I finally made him get a toupee (it cost $200), and he looked 100 per cent better, but I was STILL ashamed to walk beside him. From a distance he looked fine, but from close up you could tell he was wearing a toupee. He said he didn't care if people knew he wore a toupee or not, he thinks it looks better than no hair at all.

I am so ashamed of myself for feeling like I do because he is the dearest, sweetest man in all the world. And the best husband, father, and provider a woman could ask for. I just hate myself for being dissatisfied with him just because he's bald. What can I do? Sometimes I think I can't stand it another day.

WOODLEY'S WIFE: Your problem is that you obviously have never had anything important enough to worry about. A handicapped child, a helpless parent, a husband with a drinking, gambling, or chasing problem. The real problem is YOUR head and what's not IN it. Accept the realities of life if you cannot change them. And ignore the nonessentials in an otherwise good man.

DEAR ABBY: There's an old guy in our town who is driving everybody nuts. He's about 75 years old. His trouble is he can't keep his paws off women. No waitress will get within six feet of him. When he comes into the restaurant the cashier has to go over and take his order, and the cook comes out of the kitchen to serve it to him.

This guy went to a doctor for a check up and the nurse told me if he ever came back she was going to have a pair of handcuffs ready. Everybody in town knows about him. I can't understand why they let a man like that run loose. Isn't he dangerous?

SMALL TOWN GIRL: Probably not. If everybody in town knows about him, they're safe. It's the ones they DON'T know about who are dangerous.

DEAR ABBY: Why are certain people always late? I know two. A man and a woman. The woman has no excuse whatsoever because she has no job, no children, and all the time in the world. The man is self-employed, and his reputation for tardiness is so well known that when he makes an appointment it is assumed that he will be anywhere from half an hour to an hour late. And he always is. But he never has the courtesy to apologize or explain. I am always prompt. My time is every bit as valuable as anyone else's, and I resent being kept waiting. WHY, oh, why are some people always late?

MANY USES: Oil from the cottonseed is used for cooking oil, margarine, soap and paint.

Lynn Kimball Weds

Dennis W. Schrock

The marriage of Miss Lynn Kimball, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Kimball, and Airman Dennis Wayne Schrock, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Schrock, all of Oak Grove, was solemnized Saturday, May 28, at 7:30 p.m. in the New Zion Baptist Church.

Reverend Ezra Murphy officiated at the double ring ceremony. Miss Betty Horton, pianist, played traditional wedding music and accompanied Miss Betty Rodgers, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor length gown of white peau de soie fashioned with fitted bodice, and long sleeves tapered to petal points over the hands. The A-line skirt was accented by a detachable full chapel train. Her veil of illusion was attached to a small crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations with streamers atop a white Bible.

Miss Ruby Kimball, served

her sister as maid of honor. She wore a short gown of blue brocade, with headpiece of blue net and carried a bouquet of blue hydrangeas. Dressed identically to the honor attendant were the bridesmaids, Miss Carolyn Evans, Miss Sandra Weems, and Miss Audrey Jean Sherman.

Flower girl was Miss Sherry Kimball and Michael McDaniel served as ring bearers.

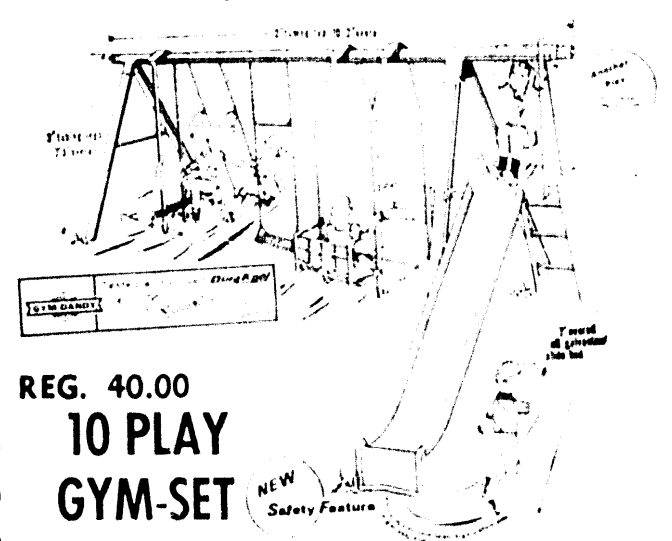

Jerry Ratcliff served as best man and groomsmen were John Lane, Steve Hampton, and Danny Wayne Kimball, who also served as ushers. Candles were lighted by Peggy and Mack Kimball.

Mrs. Kimball, mother of the bride, chose for the occasion a blue linen dress and used bone accessories. The groom's mother was wearing a beige model with matching accessories.

MRS. GEORGE RICHARD SAVAGE

Savage-Brown Vows Exchanged In Mississippi Ceremony

The Mendenhall Methodist Church in Mendenhall, Mississippi, was the scene of the ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Shirley Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robert Brown of Mendenhall, and George Richard Savage, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Glynn Savage of Monroe. The Rev. William C. Fulgham was the officiating minister, and vows were exchanged before the altar with a floral background of greenery, white gladioli and pink carnations.

Mrs. Bob Jones was organist for the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza with a fitted bodice and Swiss applique highlighted by a chapel train. Her veil of silk illusion fell from a crown of pearls. She carried a bouquet of carnations and lily of the valley flowers, centered with an orchid.

Mrs. Jim A. Palmero of Kreole, Mississippi, attended the bride as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Parker Dykes of Forest, and Mrs. James Gray McLemore of Oxford, cousins of the bride, and Mrs. Charles R. Brown, Jr. of Houston, Texas.

Parties Climax Prenuptial Events Prior To Wedding

The rehearsal supper last evening climaxed the prenuptial parties that have complimented Miss Pam Franks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Franks, and her fiancé, Joe Raymond Peace. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Peace, hosts for the final festivity last night.

The E. C. Chambers home was the scene of the supper following the rehearsal. Artistically arranged bouquets of spring flowers were used to enhance the decor of the party area. The prospective groom and his fiancée, who was wearing a Navy shift trimmed with white lace, greeted the guests as they arrived.

The soon to wed couple presented gifts to their attendants as a memento of their wedding.

RICE BAG PARTY

Pink tulle, ribbons and white rice centered the tables for the guests who gathered at the rice-bag festivity given for Miss Franks on Wednesday, with Mrs. M. B. Nolen Jr. and Mrs. A. E. Krause Jr., as hostesses.

The Nolen home in Sicily Island was the setting for the bridal party from 3 until 5 p.m.

Close friends of the honoree were guests for the informal festivity and all were attired in casual sportswear. Party foods and iced drinks were served by the hostesses after the fashioning of the dainty rice bags.

Mrs. C. B. Mayo assisted at the reception.

For traveling, the bride wore an aqua suit with matching hat and bone accessories. Her corsage was an orchid from her bouquet. Following a wedding trip the couple will be at home in New Orleans.

REHEARSAL DINNER

On the eve of the wedding the bridal party was entertained with a rehearsal dinner at the Mendenhall Hotel by the grooms parents.

The bride is a graduate of Mississippi State College for Women where she was a member of Alpha Beta Alpha, national honorary library science fraternity, and the Troubadour Social Club.

Mr. Savage attended Baylor University, received his B. S. degree from Northeast Louisiana State College at Monroe, and his M. S. degree at Mississippi State University.

RETURNING FROM a ten-day trip to Orlando, Florida are Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas E. Fontana and children, Marianne and John, of 1309 Roselawn. They were guests of the Fontana's son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fontana and Jason. Several side trips were taken to points of interest in Tampa, Cape Kennedy, and St. Petersburg. Accompanying the Fontana family to Florida was Miss Katie Cascio.

IN PORTUGAL TODAY are Jerry Liles, son of Dr. and Mrs. Burchell Liles, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Barham and son, Robert, of Oak Ridge. The group departed on Wednesday of this week and plans a six-week European tour.

LEAVING YESTERDAY for New London, Connecticut, where she will be employed during the summer by the United States Navy at Underwater Sound Laboratory, was Miss Karen Bauer. Miss Bauer was also tapped in May for membership on the Senior Board at Northeast State College.

JAMES LEVERETT of New York City is presently visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Leverett of 1703 Lexington Avenue. He just completed a leading role in "The Wedding" a new one-act play by Jonathan Holstein. The play was produced by the Professional Actors Guild and premiered at a special performance at the Harvard Club of New York. It was also presented for several performances at the New Library and Museum of the Performing Arts at Lincoln Center.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am on the verge of a nervous breakdown and it's my own fault, but I can't help it. I was 20 when I married Woodley. He was 29 and completely bald except for a little fringe of hair around his head. It bothered me then, I told myself I'd get used to it. Well, I never did. It kept bothering me more and more.

I finally made him get a toupee (it cost $200), and he looked 100 per cent better, but I was STILL ashamed to walk beside him. From a distance he looked fine, but from close up you could tell he was wearing a toupee. He said he didn't care if people knew he wore a toupee or not, he thinks it looks better than no hair at all.

I am so ashamed of myself for feeling like I do because he is the dearest, sweetest man in all the world. And the best husband, father, and provider a woman could ask for. I just hate myself for being dissatisfied with him just because he's bald. What can I do? Sometimes I think I can't stand it another day.

WOODLEY'S WIFE: Your problem is that you obviously have never had anything important enough to worry about. A handicapped child, a helpless parent, a husband with a drinking, gambling, or chasing problem. The real problem is YOUR head and what's not IN it. Accept the realities of life if you cannot change them. And ignore the nonessentials in an otherwise good man.

DEAR ABBY: There's an old guy in our town who is driving everybody nuts. He's about 75 years old. His trouble is he can't keep his paws off women. No waitress will get within six feet of him. When he comes into the restaurant the cashier has to go over and take his order, and the cook comes out of the kitchen to serve it to him.

This guy went to a doctor for a check up and the nurse told me if he ever came back she was going to have a pair of handcuffs ready. Everybody in town knows about him. I can't understand why they let a man like that run loose. Isn't he dangerous?

SMALL TOWN GIRL: DEAR GIRL: Probably not. If everybody in town knows about him, they're safe. It's the ones they DON'T know about who are dangerous.

DEAR ABBY: Why are certain people always late? I know two. A man and a woman. The woman has no excuse whatsoever because she has no job, no children, and all the time in the world. The man is self-employed, and his reputation for tardiness is so well known that when he makes an appointment it is assumed that he will be anywhere from half an hour to an hour late! And he always is.

But he never has the courtesy to apologize or explain. I am always prompt. My time is always as valuable as anyone else's, and I resent being kept waiting. WHY, oh, why are some people always late?

MANY USES: Oil from the cottonseed is used for cooking oil, margarine, soap and paint.

COMBED: Combed cotton is made of long yarns "combed" for extra fineness.

Lynn Kimball Weds Dennis W. Schrock

The marriage of Miss Lynn Kimball, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Kimball, and Airman Dennis Wayne Schrock, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Schrock, all of Oak Grove, was solemnized Saturday, May 28, at 7:30 p.m. in the New Zion Baptist Church.

Reverend Ezra Murphy officiated at the double ring ceremony. Miss Betty Horton, pianist, played traditional wedding music and accompanied Miss Betty Rodgers, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor length gown of white peau de soie fashioned with fitted bodice, and long sleeves tapered to petal points over the hands. The A-line skirt was accented by a detachable full chapel train. Her veil of illusion was attached to a small crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations with streamers atop a white Bible.

Miss Ruby Kimball, served

her sister as maid of honor. She wore a short gown of blue brocade, with headdress of blue net and carried a bouquet of blue hydrangeas. Dressed identically to the honor attendant were the bridesmaids, Miss Carolyn Evans, Miss Sandra Weems, and Miss Audrey Jean Sherman.

Flower girl was Miss Sherry Kimball and Michael McDaniel served as ring bearers.

Jerry Ratcliff served as best man and groomsmen were John Lane, Steve Hampton, and Danny Wayne Kimball, who also served as ushers. Candles were lighted by Peggy and Mack Kimball.

Mrs. Kimball, mother of the bride, chose for the occasion a blue linen dress and used bone accessories. The groom's mother was wearing a beige model with matching accessories.

Following the exchange of vows a reception was held in the social room of the church. A bouquet of blue hydrangeas formed the central decor for the bride's table which was covered with a white linen cloth. Mrs. Cecil Weems served the cake and Miss Bonnie Kimball presided at the punch bowl. Miss Lorene Kindrix was in charge of the bride's book.

The couple will be at home in Abilene, Texas where Airman Schrock will be stationed.

Management Club Speaker Scheduled

L. C. Poindexter, Shreveport gas company executive and a former resident of Monroe, will be the guest speaker at a demonstration dinner of the Industrial Management Club of Monroe - West Monroe. The dinner will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Highland Park Country Club.

Poindexter, vice president of United Gas Pipe Line Company, was with the Monroe office from 1929 to 1937. He is immediate past chairman of the Operations Section of the American Gas Association and was general campaign chairman of the 1965 Caddo-Bossier Parish United Fund Drive.

"The speaker's topic will be 'The Obligations and Opportunities of a Supervisor.'"

Sponsors of the meeting are members of the Industrial Service Committee of the Twin Cities YMCA. Merle Edwards is chairman.

Members of the program committee are Charles McCallum, chairman; Doug Hudson and Chalmers Williams.

Arrangements Committee members are Ed Auld, chairman; T. J. Canizaro; Bobby Mangrum; and D. E. Willis, committee advisor.

Toastmaster will be Dwight D. Vines, dean of the School of Business at Northeast Louisiana State College. George L. Heiler will introduce the speaker.

Paul Goldman will welcome the guest on behalf of the YMCA board of directors. Capt. Ronald Green of the Salvation Army will give the invocation. Greetings will be extended by representatives of the mayors of Monroe and West Monroe. Leon

Howard Changes His Mind

Monroe Mayor W. L. Howard Friday changed his mind on a stipulation made in connection with the release of city payroll information. He said Rep. Lawrence Gibbs would not be required to sign an indemnity agreement before the city released salary figures requested by Gibbs.

Gibbs, through Harry Bell, a Monroe certified public accountant, is seeking information on payrolls for the city and the Monroe Utilities Commission.

Without mentioning Gibbs by name, Howard said in a letter to Bell, "I understand that your client is somewhat reluctant to sign the indemnity agreement which was mailed to you earlier this week."

The letter added that the request for payroll figures was "solely political" and that Bell's "client" would not have to sign the agreement "unless he wishes."

Howard and Gibbs have been involved in a vocal dispute over a bill already approved by the House which would grant firemen a base pay of $400. Gibbs, along with Rep. George Wood, have supported the legislation, while Howard has lashed it saying it would cost Monroe $240,000 the first year of operation and is unfair.

The city requested the agreement to hold it "harmless" from any damages resulting in subsequent publication or dissemination of the information.

Man Dies In Plane Crash

SOUTHAVEN, Miss. (AP)—A twin-engine plane crashed into a wooded area near here Friday, killing the veteran pilot.

The body of Daniel Eugene Rose, 47, of Walls was recovered from the wreckage by several crews, alerted to the crash by a witness, James Crouch, a Hernandez carpenter.

Officials said the Aero-Com commander burrowed six to eight feet into the ground on impact but did not burn.

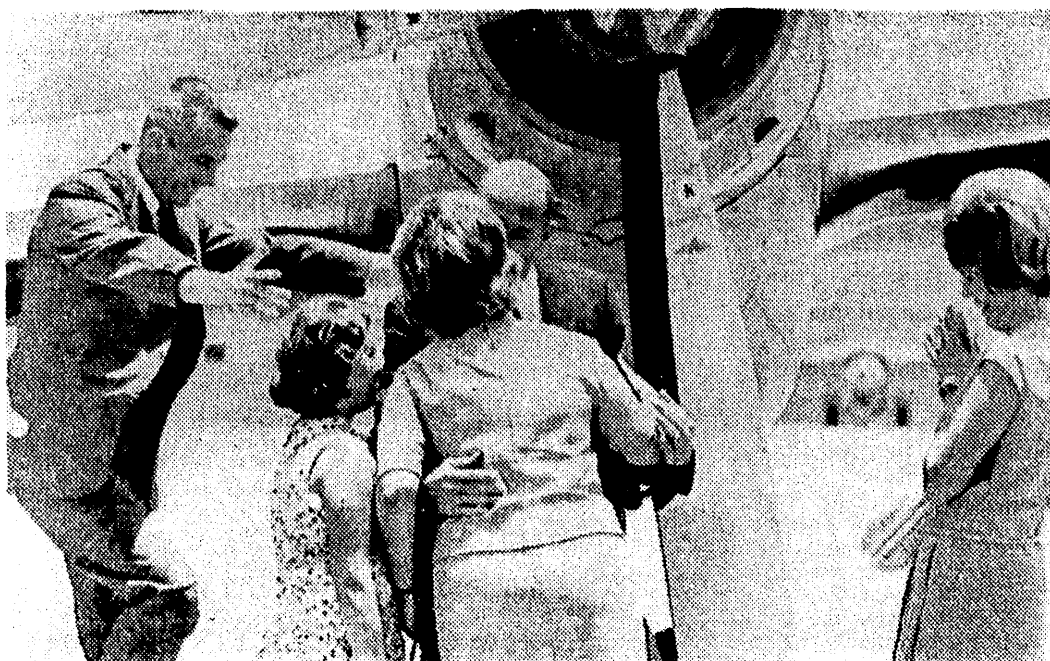

"It turned on its side and made two turns while headed straight down," said Crouch. Officials said the altimeter was stuck at slightly less than 1,000 feet.

The craft was owned by Jack Adams, a used plane dealer at Twinkeltown Airport near Walls, which is about 10 miles from this town on the Tennessee - Mississippi state line.

Hammonds will provide dinner music.

Purpose of the dinner is to give supervisors, managers and foremen the opportunity to discuss the possibility of organizing a local branch of the National Council of Industrial Management Clubs. If enough interest is shown, a club may be organized locally, according to officials of the YMCA. It will be the first such club in the area for supervisors, managers and foremen.

Object of the national organization is to provide foremen and supervisors from all industries an opportunity to meet together to develop their abilities as leaders; share common concerns regarding industrial problems; and to keep up to date on technical advances. Men in supervisory positions in industrial organizations in the Twin Cities area are eligible for membership in the proposed local club.

ASTRONAUT Eugene Cernan, left, heads for wife Barbara with open arms Friday as he arrived at Ellington AFB at Houston. Astronaut Thomas Stafford kisses wife Faye, while daughter Dionne, 12, waits her turn. Stafford and Cernan were the command pilot and pilot of Gemini 9. (AP Wirephoto)

Ellender Sees No Simplified Gemini 9 Astronauts Greeted By Families End To War

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Sen. Allen Ellender, D-La., said Friday that a stabilized Viet Nam government and accord between the Catholics and Buddhists could end the hard fighting within a year.

But the Louisiana Democrat added there was no simplified answer to the war. He made his comments while meeting with newsmen in the press room of the State Capitol.

He said Viet Nam was like Korea in that long after the fighting is over there would still be American troops there. He noted the Korean cease fire occurred in 1953 and Americans were still in that country.

He said the U.S. was committed in Viet Nam and could not suddenly pull out. Ellender said back in 1954 he recommended technical assistance to help Viet Nam but said the military buildup changed U.S. involvement.

On other topics, Ellender said he planned to make another tour of Africa in about two years. He was ousted from at least three countries for commenting four years ago during a tour of the continent that some countries were not prepared for self-government.

During the day Ellender filed with the Democratic State Central Committee for his bid at re-election this summer.

He is opposed by Ferriday cattleman Troyce Guice and state Sen. J. D. DeBlieux of Baton Rouge who qualified Friday with the committee.

Chamber Meet Slated Monday

Members of the Industrial Committee of the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce will meet at 3 p.m. Monday to continue discussions on an industrial prospect for the West Monroe area.

Leslie Hamm is chairman of the committee which has been in close contact with a prospective industry considering a move to the South.

The committee at an April 11 meeting determined "to go after the industrial prospect with all diligence."

Dam Proposal Endorsed By House Group

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House subcommittee Friday tentatively endorsed a controversial proposal for a $500 million dam that would create a 500-foot-deep lake in one of the nation's biggest natural tourist attractions, the Grand Canyon.

In a closed session, the reclamation subcommittee voted to authorize payment of $16,398,000 to the Hualapai Indians of Arizona as compensation for use of the dam site on the Colorado River.

Construction of this dam and another on the Colorado River above the Grand Canyon National Park is proposed in a $1.7 billion bill now before the House Interior Committee.

Actions taken by the subcommittee Friday were tentative and subject to approval when a final vote is taken on the entire bill.

Construction of both dams is hotly contested by conservationists who claim it will turn the Grand Canyon into a "cash register" just to benefit commercial interests.

The craft was owned by Jack Adams, a used plane dealer at Twinkeltown Airport near Walls, which is about 10 miles from this town on the Tennessee - Mississippi state line.

Hammonds will provide dinner music.

Purpose of the dinner is to give supervisors, managers and foremen the opportunity to discuss the possibility of organizing a local branch of the National Council of Industrial Management Clubs. If enough interest is shown, a club may be organized locally, according to officials of the YMCA. It will be the first such club in the area for supervisors, managers and foremen.

Object of the national organization is to provide foremen and supervisors from all industries an opportunity to meet together to develop their abilities as leaders; share common concerns regarding industrial problems and to keep up to date on technical advances. Men in supervisory positions in industrial organizations in the Twin Cities area are eligible for membership in the proposed local club.

Ellender Sees Gemini 9 Astronauts Greeted By Families

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The Gemini 9 astronauts, home from three often-troubled days in space, bounded off a twin-engine plane Friday into the waiting arms of their families.

"Daddy," shrieked champion space walker Eugene A. Cernan's daughter, Teresa, 3, as she raced to her father.

Cernan swept Teresa off the ground as his attractive wife, Barbara, raced to him.

Air Force Lt. Col. Thomas P. Stafford, the Gemini 9 command pilot, was smothered with welcome hugs and kisses from his wife, Faye, and two daughters, Dionne, 11, and Karine, 8.

"It seems like we've been away a long time," Navy Lt. Cmdr. Cernan told the small crowd gathered for the welcome. "We had a real great experience, and it sure is great to be home."

Stafford echoed Cernan's feelings, then said, "We learned a heck of a lot up there."

Stafford, 35, and Cernan, 32, flew to Texas from Cape Kennedy, Fla., aboard a space agency plane. They had lunch with their

On other topics, Ellender said he planned to make another tour of Africa in about two years. He was ousted from at least three countries for commenting four years ago during a tour of the continent that some countries were not prepared for self-government.

During the day Ellender filed with the Democratic State Central Committee for his bid at re-election this summer.

He is opposed by Friday cattleman Troyce Guice and state Sen. J. D. DeBlieux of Baton Rouge who qualified Friday with the committee.

Construction of this dam and another on the Colorado River above the Grand Canyon National Park is proposed in a $1.7 billion bill now before the House Interior Committee.

Actions taken by the subcommittee Friday were tentative and subject to approval when a final vote is taken on the entire bill.

Construction of both dams is hotly contested by conservationists who claim it will turn the Grand Canyon into a "cash register" just to benefit commercial interests.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A House subcommittee Friday tentatively endorsed a controversial proposal for a $500 million dam that would create a 500-foot-deep lake in one of the nation's biggest natural tourist attractions, the Grand Canyon.

In a closed session, the reclamation subcommittee voted to authorize payment of $16,398,000 to the Hualapai Indians of Arizona as compensation for use of the dam site on the Colorado River.

Defense Minister May Be New Red China Chief

Defense Minister Lin Piao appeared Saturday to have emerged as a likely successor to Mao Tse-tung for leadership of the Peking regime.

This was indicated in an article stressing that to be a good Marxist one must "place Mao Tse-tung's thought right in the forefront in all work and absorb comrade Lin Piao's very important instructions on the living study and application of Chairman Mao's works."

The appearance of Lin's name together with Mao — a rare event — was important.

The article, one of a series calling on the people to carry on the cultural revolution, was published in the current issue of the Chinese party's theoretical journal, Red Flag, and distributed internationally by Peking's official New China News Agency.

The article followed a purge of dissidents highlighted by the ouster of Peking Mayor Peng Chen, a man once considered a possible successor to Mao, who is 72.

Lin Piao's army apparently played a leading role in the crackdown on anti-party and anti-Socialist elements came from army newspapers.

Lin Piao's reputation has been built up recently. He was shown with Mao in a picture last month when the Chinese leader emerged from a six-month absence from public view for a meeting with Albanian Premier Mehmet Shehu.

Last November, Lin Piao, 57, laid down special rules to his army of 2.5 million, saying the best military weapon in modern times is not aircraft or the atom bomb but the thinking of Mao.

Red Flag in its latest issue said: "Comrade Lin Piao advocates: 'Read Chairman Mao Tse-tung's works, follow his teachings, act in accordance with this instructions and be a good soldier of Chairman Mao Tse-tung.' He has initiated a movement in the people's liberation army for the creative study and application of Chairman Mao's works. This is a great new development."

LBJ Forces Trying To Get Debt Boost

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The administration opened a campaign Friday to try to get the Senate to restore a House cut of $2 billion in President Johnson's request for a $4 billion increase in the national debt limit.

Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler met with chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., of the Senate Finance Committee in hopes of getting the debt limit up to the $332 billion Johnson had asked. The current ceiling is $328 billion.

The House approved a $330 billion ceiling Wednesday, choosing to believe what Fowler called "a man-bites-dog" story.

At issue was just how big would be the federal budget deficit, which is important in estimating the size of the debt limit, a regulator of deficit financing.

Former Governor Wins Massachusetts Nomination

BOSTON (AP) — Former Gov. Endicott Peabody pulled out an overwhelming victory Friday over Boston Mayor John F. Collins to win the Democratic convention endorsement for the U.S. Senate on the first ballot. The vote was 1,078 for Peabody to 721 for Collins. The votes of 22 of the 40 districts were challenged. However, the recanvass made only slight changes in the outcome and before it was finished Collins came to the platform and withdrew. Collins withdrawal speech was tinged with bitterness. He said, "Johnny Powers has had his night of revenge." Collins referred to the clerk of the Supreme Judicial Court whom he beat in the mayor's race in 1959. Powers was firmly in the Peabody camp. Peabody, surrounded by a crowd of well-wishers, said, "I am thrilled, the people of Massachusetts are anxious to put me back in office." Collins said the "candidate who carries the banner of the Democratic party in the November election should be the candidate of the majority of the 1,300,000 voters in the commonwealth." The delegates hooted and booed through much of Collins' speech and much of what he said was lost in the noise. Collins will challenge the convention decision by entering the state primary in September. Peabody showed his strength all across the state except in the Collins stronghold of Suffolk County. The balloting for the U.S. Senate endorsement was the first in the convention in which the spotlight was on the old political rivalry between the Kennedys and the McCormack forces in the contest for the endorsement for governor. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who inherited party leadership in his home state from his late brother, President John F. Kennedy, is remaining neutral, at least until after the convention has made its choice. The chief contest has Edward J. McCormack, an old opponent of Sen. Kennedy, running for governor in a field which includes two Kennedy stalwarts, Kenneth P. O'Donnell and Maurice A. Donahue. McCormack is the nephew of U.S. House Speaker John W. McCormack and a former state attorney general. He was Kennedy's opponent for the Senate in 1962 when Kennedy first won the seat.
